The 30s

Like the rest of the nation, the future of Kilgore appeared very dim during the Great Depression of 1930. But the less than 800 residents of the quiet, little town felt the beginning of a drastic change in October of 1930 when "Dad" Joiner brought in the Daisy Bradford No.3. Overnight "black gold" brought prosperity and greater opportunity to a new Kilgore.

City officials and local educators sought out a new service with long ranging effects for the young people of the East Texas area. When the idea of a local junior college to serve the needs of community and industry was presented by Kilgore School Superintendent W. L. Dodson, it was with overwhelming approval that the citizens accepted the proposal and voted 176 for, and none against! Through their efforts Kilgore College was established.

The school registered about 100 students on that first day of registration on Sept. 11, 1935. Final enrollment was 229, and, with as little observance to superstition as possible, began classes on Friday, Sept. 13.

The 40s

War had been raging for some time in Asia and Europe, but by 1940 the threatening storm had not been much on the minds of the optimistic Kilgore community and Kilgore College.

Miss Gussie Nell Davis had been charged with recruiting a drill team of girls to entertain crowds at halftime KC football games.

In 1941 Kilgore College prospered as the war cloud across the ocean grew steadily, never revealing how soon this nation and Kilgore would be drawn into the terrible fray. More buildings were constructed, the Rangers won another state championship and the Rangerettes were featured in a Sunday Dallas Morning News section.

Then, on a cold day, Dec. 7th, 1941, the Japanese bombed Pearl Harbor and brought a commitment by the United States and the citizens of this small community to the world-wide life and death struggle. Faculty members sold defense stamps and helped register men for the draft. Sororities earned thousands of dollars in war bond drives.

U.S. Navy Reserve Trainees were schooled for combat at KC and 1,045 pilots graduated from the civilian and navy V-5 flight training program.

The 50s

Classes of crew-cut boys and poodle-skirted young women grew each year during the next decade. Enrollment during the 1950s increased about 10 percent each year under the presidency of Dr. Cruce Stark, and physical expansion of the campus in brick and concrete was amazing. And even more amazing, the student center, administration building, and two dormitories were funded completely through revenue with no help from the state!

A new music featuring hard strumming, hip shaking, pounding rhythm known as Rock and Roll blared over car radios and from jukeboxes in soda shops. New idols such as James Dean, Elvis Presley and Buddy Holly drove the young female "bobbie sockers" into squealing frenzies at their performances.

On the KC campus a variety of activities were available including trips and bowl games, beauty contests, talent shows, hula hoops, sock hops, and hot rods.

The 60s

During the 60s everything happened! A street philosopher once said, "It was a time of gaudy excess in all things." Much was being discovered and experienced.

Rock music (the roll seems to have rolled on) grew and so did Kilgore College. A new president, Dr. Randolph C. Watson led the school through an unprecedented expansion. As one person remarked, "he went out and found the money." "Education is big business," Dr. Watson exclaimed. He believed that Kilgore College had to acquire an image as being the best two-year academic program and develop the most powerful technical/vocational departments in the state or even the nation.

During the 60s decade new programs such as police science, nursing and cosmetology were added. Students could participate in a wide range of clubs, dances, SUB parties and other activities.

Various organizations were making names for themselves. The Rangers captured five Texas Junior College Championships. The Rangerettes and Ranger Band became international stars and good will ambassadors with their many performances such as the Macy's New York Thanksgiving Day Parade in three consecutive years. They also toured Venezuela and went behind the iron curtain

President Watson led Kilgore College through most of the 70s decade until 1978 when he passed his role on to former math teacher, registrar, and vice-president Dr. Stewart McLaurin, KC's current president.

"This period was the beginning of the need for increased awareness of our responsibility as protector of the public trust. Taxpayers developed a low tolerance for poor management, asking instead that tax dollars be wisely scrutinized. They wanted a day's work for a day's pay," McLaurin explained upon assuming his new duties as president of Kilgore College.

An exciting new addition for the public as well as the student body was added to the KC campus. The East Texas Oil Museum provided visitors with an historic tour of Kilgore's "boom era" complete with a street scene mock-up of gusher days. The Rangerette Museum told the story of the now internationally famous drill and dance team. Other projects continued including modernization and renovation of physical facilities.

The 80s

Already we are halfway through another decade. It's been said many times that history repeats itself. And trends and fads of bygone times repeat themselves. Or, at least they seem on the surface similar. But some things won't change. Since its modest beginnings in highschool and church classrooms, Kilgore College has grown because of the great wealth of natural and human resources available.

During these times when every area of human involvement seems very delicately balanced, it is especially important to remember that education and enlightenment are perhaps the greatest insurance that we will survive and prosper. Kilgore College's role is no less important than any other institution, great or small, in promoting its motto, "emphasis excellence."

During Golden Anniversary

'First Class Day' Celebrated

On Sept. 13, 1984 there were a few students and faculty from Kilgore College who remembered their first day of classes way back on that same date in 1935.

But, there were about 3000 currently enrolled students, faculty and friends also attending the celebration to commemorate KC's golden anniversary and "First Class Day." It began with featured speeches by former students and faculty. Then there was a "who's who" type of introduction for the various organizations and groups on campus.

The Ranger Band, Rangerettes and cheerleaders performed.

For more entertainment there was music, a KC Fashion Merchandising-sponsored fashion show of bygone styles, a slide show of KC's history and, finally, a Texas-style and size barbecue.

Several lines stretching at least 50 yards each formed in the hot noon sun behind the Student Center while faculty members dished out free Boadacious barbecue, slaw, vegetables and iced tea.

Band readies for busier-than-average year

Ranger Band members always have a busy year, but the 1984-85 season demanded even more from the musical, marching performers.

This year was climaxed by a trip to San Francisco to perform in the East-West Shrine Bowl in addition to the traditional local parades and shows and Cotton Bowl performance in Dallas.

Band Director Jerry Hale and new assistant director Mike Turpin began putting the group through their paces during late summer. Returning sophomore musicians had to learn new marching skills and refresh old ones. The freshmen or fish began from scratch in these drills and learned also what it takes to be totally accepted through freshmen band initiation.

Already with one year under their belts, the sophomores required freshmen to wear paper fish around their necks, sing the KC Fight Song upon hearing a "roll off", admonished them not to turn their backs when seeing a sophomore and ordered them to dress in outlandish, but colorful costumes while performing in pep rallies.

Incoming freshmen also had to learn how to coordinate their music with the exacting routines of the Killgore College Rangerettes. Many of the new "rettes" rehearsed with the well-known band and dance and drill team for the first time on the hot August field.

'Rettes prepare for Shrine Bowl

The KC Rangerettes traveled and performed from Kilgore to San Francisco this year. They began with tryouts before school started and continued working on routines for halftime performances at football games.

After a Christmas break, the group trained hard to be ready for their annual Cotton Bowl performance in Dallas on New Year's Day. From there the drill team flew to San Francisco to entertain at the East-West Shrine Bowl.

The year ended with the spring Rangerette Revels show.

The Rangerettes originated in 1940 when Gussie Nell Davis, their first director, was asked to come up with an act that would keep people in their seats during football halftime. She probably didn't plan it, but the Kilgore Rangerettes were the first and have perhaps become the world's most famous halftime chorus line. On Sept. 19, 1940, the first Rangerette performance dazzled the Kilgore fans and did keep the completely quiet crowd glued to their seats as they watched, apparently very impressed with the act. At the end of the show, the crowd cheered and applauded.

'Rettes, Band appear in 36th Cotton Bowl

The Rangerettes and Ranger Band returned early from Christmas vacation to prepare for their performances in the New Year's Day Cotton Bowl Parade and Football Classic in Dallas.

Marching in blustry cold, the KC performers made their way down crowded city streets leading the many other bands, floats and performers. Later the Kilgore groups performed in the pre-game and halftime events to the theme, Broadway Texas Style.

Following the holiday performance the band and Rangerettes were joined by the Rangerettes Forever, a group of former Rangerettes which included some of the original 1940 Rangerettes, to depart for San Francisco for another performance in the East-West Shrine Bowl.

KC groups 'experience' San Francisco

The energetic KC groups kept singing, "San Francisco, here we come..." as the heavy plane slowly lifted from the icy Dallas airport bound for the California coast. The Rangerettes, Ranger Band, and Rangerettes Forever were on their way to perform in the halftime show at the East-West Shrine Bowl Football game at Stanford University.

Less than 24 hours earlier they had put on a nationally televised show at the 1985 Cotton Bowl Classic. They knew there was much more than the performance to experience.

Perhaps it was the beautiful San Francisco Bay, hills and architecture, or maybe the food, diverse ethnic cultures, bowl game, and the Shriners' generous hospitality excited everyone's senses and imagination. And of course, there was the Golden Gate Bridge to see and tours to take. But a tour of the Shriners' Hospital for crippled children made everyone realize the very serious and important reason behind the fund-raising bowl game in which the KC performers now had a part.

Most of the East Texas group appeared to enjoy the trip to the west coast, and they and the Shriners thanked each other at the end of the visit with promises to see each other again.

These photos present a few images of the scenes and experiences that the Kilgore College folks won't soon forget.

'Stars Over Texas' is Revels 1984 theme

"The stars of Texas are around you, everywhere you go....," and the speaker continued, revealing the 1984 spring Rangerette Revels theme "the stars over Texas." This time the annual dance and musical extravaganza, spotlighted the noteworthy and famous in Texas and involved more than 100 students.

The show opened with a colorful splash when the sophomore Rangerettes strode out in front of the crowds with red, white, and blue flags followed by 12 freshmen singing their version of Eyes of Texas. Other acts included Singing in the Rain, a freshmen tap routine, a salute to Texan Debbie Reynolds; Glen Campbell was portrayed by Rick McDaniel in Country Boy; a sophomore novelty act danced to Blue Monday, paying tribute to Larry Hagman; Hagman and Susan Howard, both of the TV soap, Dallas were paid tribute with a gymnastic routine performed by Toni Guevara; Angela Mayberry impersonated Barbara Mandrell in Only You, and Kenny Rogers was represented in a musical duet by Brad and Bart Howlett. Closing the first act with a tap production, Rangerettes and choreographer Ruth Flynn saluted Ginger Rogers with Big Noise from Winnetka.

Act II saluted the Texas stars from Broadway. Bobby and Jaques Pinke sang One in a Million paying tribute to Jennifer Holliday and Loretta Devine. The sophomore Swingsters and Rangerette choreographer danced to Jellicle Ball from the musical Cats. Then 12 freshmen Rangerettes performed Working Girl March to hail Carol Burnett. A ventriloquist, Terri Arrington and Billy the Kid, represented the famous voice thrower Ron Lucas. Miss Gussie Nell Davis, originator of the world-famous Rangerettes, was saluted by Rangerette Assistant Director Laura Davis and the sophomore Rangerettes when they performed with A Chorus Line.

The KC Stage Band provided entertainment during Act III. Under the direction of Jerry Hale, they opened with Sweet Georgia Brown. The Ranger Band Twirlers performed to She Works Hard for the Money. Movie star Sissy Spacek once twirled at Kilgore College as a twirler for Quitman High School.

Lisa Limbock depicted Alice Lonn, Lawrence Welk's first champagne lady. She sang Someone to Watch Over Me. Dancing to I Go to Rio the freshmen Swingsters saluted Sandy Duncan. The Stage Band then praised Harry James with a Big Band Medley. Clint Whatley added a little Texas culture and Joey Cigainero played the piano to complete the third act. Cigainero portrayed Van Cliburn, the world famous pianist from Kilgore.

The Stars of Texas was completed with a host of country and western stars. The act took place in Gilly's, a Texas club. Freshman novelty act performed to Hooked on Country. Singing Seven Bridges Road were Russell Albert, Rusty King, Mark Olsen and Dale Roberts. The song was composed by Don Henley. Jeff Vance portrayed Willie Nelson, singing My Heroes Have Always Been Cowboys.

In a special kicking routine Jodie Stewart danced to Orange Blossom Hoedown. The Rangerette managers then sang, perhaps bashfully, Oh Lord It's Hard to be Humble in a salute to Mac Davis. Portraying Mickey Gilley, Russell Terrell sang Stand By Me.

Terrell presented the 1984 Ranger Beauties as the yellow roses of Texas. Beauties included: Julie Jones, Wendy Lea, Lisa Limbock, Kim Liudahl, Elaine Roberts, Shawne Stewart, Beverly Turner and Vikki Young.

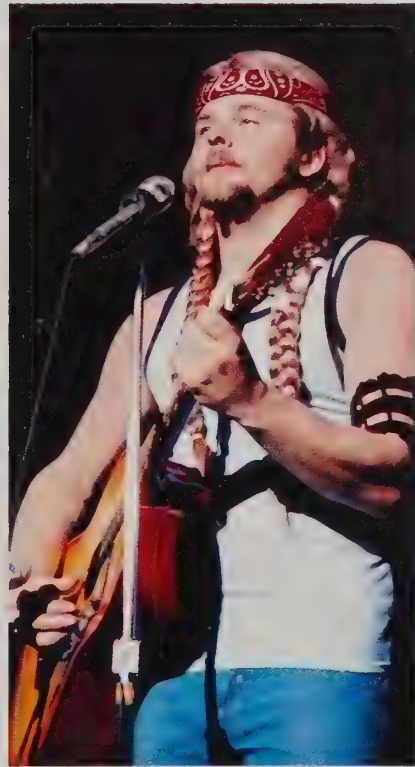

The KC Connection provided musical entertainment after the fourth act. They were directed by Dale Miller.

KC student body selects eight as

The eight Ranger Beauties were selected from thirty of Kilgore College's most beautiful women on campus. Elections were held in the Dodson Auditorium on November 29, 1984. Todd Tedder, President of Student Affairs Congress, announced the nominees and the clubs they represented. Sponsoring the election was SAC, while the background music and entertainment was provided by the KC Connection.

The 1984-85 KC Ranger Beauties are Lisa Chase, Sheri Dawn Hayes, Ginger Kimes, Silvia Elena Paquin, Nicole Perry, Connie Roth, Jacqueline (Jackie) Lee Sarabia, and Jacqueline Weldon.

Lisa Chase, a Physical Education major, represents the Dance Club. She is 19-years-old with brown hair, brown eyes and stands about 5'4". This Dallas native is a Rangerette and a Phi Theta Kappa member. While finishing her degree at Texas Tech University, she wishes to be an athletic trainer.

---

Sheri Dawn Hayes is a 19-year-old Rangerette lieutenant. Representing the Rangerettes, she is 5'6", brown hair, brown eyes and her home town is Garland. Sheri, a Dental Hygiene major, likes to dance, jog and play softball. She wishes to complete her Dental Hygiene degree at North Texas State University.

---

German Club representative Ginger Kimes is a 19-year-old Rangerette lieutenant from Bossier La. She is 5'1" with blonde hair and green eyes. Ginger's hobbies are dancing, swimming, sun bathing and skiing. Majoring in Psychology, she plans to obtain her degree at Louisiana Tech University.

---

Silvia Elena Paquin, representing the Science and Engineering Club, is a 19-year-old sophomore from Carrollton. She has brown hair and brown eyes and stands about 5'2". Her hobbies include water and snow skiing and tennis. She wishes to complete her Bio-medical degree at the University of Texas in Austin.

most beautiful' Ranger Beauties

Nicole Perry, a Secretarial Science major, is representing the KJC Band. She has brown hair, brown eyes and is 18-years-old. Nicole, a 5'2", twirler for KC Band and a National Honor Society member is from Henderson. Although she enjoys water skiing, traveling and dancing, she mostly enjoys being with her friends.

Connie Roth is a 19-year-old sophomore representing the Environmental Club. She stands about 5'6" with sandy-blonde hair and green eyes. This Kilgore native enjoys the outdoors, sunning, gardening and dancing. Majoring in Health and Physical Education, she wishes to someday have her own business or dance studio.

Jacqueline (Jackie) Lee Sarabia, representing the Newman Club is a 5'6" 18-year-old freshman from Houston. She has black hair, brown eyes and is the secretary of the Newman Club. Jackie enjoys singing, dancing, modeling and boating. She plans to complete her Marketing degree at the University of Texas at Austin.

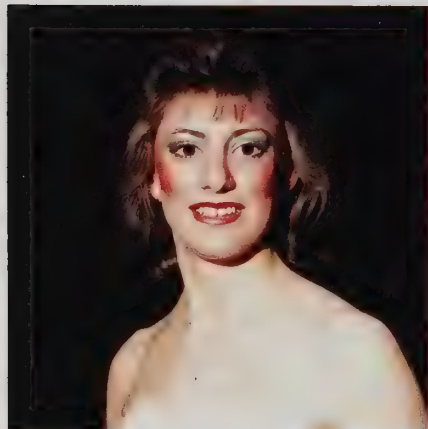

Twenty-year-old Jacqueline Weldon is a 6' sophomore Accounting major with brown hair and brown eyes. This active Davis representative is involved with the Business Club, Young Republicans and a twirler for the Ranger Band. Jacqueline, from Big Sandy, enjoys twirling, reading, horseback riding, and listening to music. She wishes to finish her degree at University of Texas at Arlington.

Clubs nominate 30 to be Beauties

As thirty young ladies paraded across the Dodson Auditorium stage, a slide presentation was shown of each nominee to give the audience a closer look. Dressed in formal gowns, each nominee nervously announced her name and major field of study. After the beauties had presented themselves, the audience of students faithfully marked their "scan-tron" ballots for the eight "most beautiful." The nominees and the clubs they represented are as follows: This page from left, row one-Tammy Bonjo, Cheerleading; Karen Boyett, Phi Theta Kappa; Karen Duhon, Business Club. Row two-Jessica Girsh, TAMA; Terri Hood, Verbatim; Anne Hughes, High-rise dorm. Row three-Janis King, Oil & Gas Club; Lisa Kirkpatrick, Baptist Student Union; Kelly Jo Krueger, Beta Chi Omega. Opposite page, row one-Melissa McCathran, Phi Theta Omega; Dawn McChristian, SAC; Sandra McClure, Agriculture Club. Row two-DeAnne Moore, Math Club; Lee Ann Myers, Chi Sigma Delta; Laurie Rice, Nursing Club. Row three-D'Lee Rushing, Wesley Foundation; Rachel Thompson, Pistol Club; Jo Ellen Toon, Choir. Row four-Sharon Trimble, Fashion Merchandising; Lynise Woods, Alpha Rho Theta; Linda Yanez, French/Spanish Club.

Hill donates Texana collection

In August, John L. Hill, Jr., former Texas attorney general and secretary of state and KC alumnus, donated a collection of historic Texas papers and books to the Randolph C. Watson Library.

At the time, Hill was running as the Democratic candidate for the office of chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court. Hill won the election in November.

Hill's collection contains 1200 books and a number of papers from his tenure as attorney general. The collection is worth about $250,000 and was donated by Hill in honor of his parents.

At the presentation ceremony, President Stewart McLaurin thanked Hill and announced that Kilgore College had been officially designated as a Certified Texas Heritage Resource Center by the Texas Historical Foundation. "Since this is the golden anniversary of Kilgore College, it is especially significant to us," Dr. McLaurin said.

While on campus, Hill addressed the first faculty meeting of the semester.

To chronicle KC's 50-year history, media technician Steven Holmes and electronic technician Paul Little produced a multi-screen/multi-media slide presentation. The show highlighted the history of KC with emphasis on student life and faculty members through the years.

The slide show was viewed throughout the year. Many KC guests saw the show at the first class day celebration on Thursday, Sept. 13.

Pledging requires much to belong

There is no degradation too great, no costume requirement so ridiculous, no command so unbearable as to prevent a determined pledge from completing his or her assigned rigors of initiation.

Every fall semester tradition requires those who want to belong endure a dutiful share of humiliation and hassle. For five weeks these pledges, they're mostly social fraternities and sororities, wear gaudy clothing, carry mannequins, address everyone as Mister or Miss so and so and carry signs draped around their bodies imploring the "actives" to allow them membership. And, it doesn't end there. Many are made to experience much, much more. They are commanded to sing the KC Fight Song at any place, any time. There are rumors and stories of much worse treatment, but it is always carried on "in a spirit of fun and togetherness," as one pledge offered.

Fall enrollment down 1.63 percent

KC's 1984 fall enrollment was down 1.63 percent from fall '83 enrollment figures. KC's final fall enrollment amounted to 4,469, according to Joe Cruseturner, KC registrar. "One of the reasons we experienced a loss is the graduates from high schools have decreased. Senior classes are less than they have been, due to the population decrease and fewer births, that sort of thing," commented Cruseturner.

"In 1988 or '89 we'll experience an increase because the sixth and seventh grades have an increased enrollment and they will be graduating at that time," predicted Cruseturner.

National surveys from the U.S. Office of Education and independent agencies have predicted a leveling off process in some colleges, said Cruseturner. "The baby boomers grew up and had theirs (children). Those have now had theirs and the boom boom is over," he said.

Somerville crowned, KC loses to HCJC

Henderson sophomore Cindi Somerville won the 1984-85 homecoming crown and the Ranger football team lost a squeaker to the Henderson County Jr. College Cardinals, 22-20 to climax this year's Golden Anniversary Homecoming celebration in R.E. St. John Memorial Stadium.

Homecoming activities included a variety of ex-student and employee luncheons, banquets, rehearsals and museum tours.

The student body voted for the Homecoming Queen and her court. The five women with the most votes from the 35 nominees were named homecoming royalty. They included:

The homecoming royalty rode in horse-drawn surreys around the football field waving to the crowds. Then each stopped near the 50-yard line where each stepped down to the field led by her escort. Each contestant stood nervously in the center of the field while her name was announced. Finally, Miss Angie Pantalion, 1983-84 Homecoming Queen placed the 1984-85 crown on Miss Somerville.

Earl Wray was named KC's Outstanding Former Teacher. KC also honored 12 outstanding alumni as Distinguished Ex-Students. They included the following: Jerry Buchmeyer, Johnny E. Ferguson, Colonel J. Gayle Garner, William E. Gipson, Harry P. Hutchens, Jr., Rear Admiral Cecil J. Kempf, General William G. Moore, Jr., Donald G. Russell, A.J. Tatum, Joe I. Tompkins, Howell L. Walker, Jr., and Peggy Whalley.

The Wizard of Oz is presented in

In celebration of Kilgore College's 50th anniversary the KC Theatre Department chose a musical, The Wizard of Oz, as their first fall production. Directed by Raymond Caldwell, the musical offered what he called "family entertainment." Adding that most people associate Wizard of Oz with the 1930s, Caldwell thought it an appropriate choice for Kilgore College's 50th year.

Assisting Caldwell in the production was Bill Holda, director of music; Bill Ballard, technical adviser; Cathy Beckman and Laura Davis, dance and choreography instructors; Jeanne Johnson assisting with voice and Gary Fields, director of art.

The play, based on the book written by L. Frank Baum in 1930, starred Melissa McCathran as Dorothy, Richard Blackstone as the Scarecrow, Jason Wooten as the Tin Man and Paul Boehmer as the Cowardly Lion. The remainder of the cast, totaling 53, included members of the Rangerettes, art students and music and dance students as well as theatre students.

Featured musical numbers in the show included: Somewhere Over the Rainbow, If I Only Had a Brain, If I Only Had a Heart, If I Only Had the Nerve, We're Off to See the Wizard, Follow the Yellow Brick Road, and Ding Dong the Witch is Dead. The program was presented in the newly renovated Dodson Auditorium from Oct. 26-28.

Street Car is KC's second fall production

KC Theatre instructor and director Bill Ballard chose Tennessee Williams' play, A Street Car Named Desire because, as Ballard explained, "I really respect the writings of Tennessee Williams, and I have always wanted to direct this play."

This production, KC's second for the '84-85 school year, is set in the French Quarter of New Orleans and explores the relations of a woman, Blanche Dubois, portrayed by Erin Rust, trapped outside the bonds of society. She pretends to live in a fairy tale, southern belle type world, according to Ballard.

Street Car is itself a very physical play. All the characters are exaggerated dealing with loneliness, sexual struggle and conflict. An overall theme is revealed when a twisted bit of light, the metaphor Williams used for Blanche, is suffocated by the elements of darkness.

Besides Rust, other characters included: Paul Bohmer as Stanley Kowalski; Suzi Lang, Stella Kowalski; David Kerens, Harold "Mitch" Miller; Belinda Bergin, Eunice Hubble; Jim Page, Steve Hubble; Kaye Snoddy, Negro Woman; Tony McCullough, Pablo Gonzales, Karen Holcomb, Mexican Woman; Patrick Clark, Young Collector; Midge Hileman, Nurse; and Don Fletcher, Doctor. The play, written in 1947, originally included such powerful actors as Marlon Brando, Karl Malden, Kim Hunter and Jessica Tandy. The KC production was performed Dec. 5-8.

Two major physical improvements, the construction of the new technical/vocational facility and renovation of Dodson Auditorium, totaled approximately $750 million according to president Stewart McLaurin.

The variety of programs to be held in the technical/vocational building include welding, electronics, and oil and gas technology. This 50,000 square foot facility has two wings. The south wing has one story and the east wing has two stories. In addition, the facility has two student lounges, one indoors and one set in a patio area. This facility not only provides quality use, but allows more room where all technical/vocational programs have been held.

After 30 years of major musicals, graduations and various college assemblies in the Dodson Auditorium, it was time for a change. The renovation project, beginning in May, was completed around October. The accoustical and lighting systems were the main concerns of the renovation. In addition to the new paint and a new light rigging system, the old cork floors were replaced with carpet. The lobby display cases as well have been renovated. Today, Dodson Auditorium is noticed as a valuable facility and is still one of the largest auditoriums in the East Texas vicinity.

Intramurals draw a diverse crowd

Intramural sports draws a diverse crowd of students into good fun and competition every semester. It is truly a mix, since some of the participants have participated in sponsored sports in high school while some have barely learned the rules enough to play. But, the program personnel attempt to balance the various teams and promote spirit.

Whether they participated in flag football, basketball, softball, tennis, racquetball, pool, volleyball, or bowling, intramurals provided many outlets for competition, social involvement and just plain fun.

"Intramural sports provides competition and fun for the 'everyday' student," Intramural Sports Director Terry Freese commented. The competition and team spirit was very keen at times, especially during championship finals, Freese said. But, one doesn't have to worry if just good sporting fun is the main goal. "Most people play to win, but if you loose it, it isn't the end. You can have fun and play another day," Freese explained.

The intramural program at KC offered combined or "co-rec" competition for men and women as well as separate mens' and womens' team competition. Activities were selected on the basis of participant interests and their suggestions. Freese is assisted by John Rossom, Assistant Student Activities Director.

Dorm life means learning to adapt

Changes, culture shock and plain old hassels of making it on your own describe most dorm students' experiences of living alone and together in the campus dormitories. Your mother isn't there to tell you to pick up your clothes, but she isn't there to wash them either. Maybe your dad can't yell at you, but he also can't help with money or homework. It's a big, big change for most of us, but one that is perhaps a necessary first step in cutting the family strings and making it on our own for the first time.

U-hauls, trucks, and car loads of junk unload in August around the three Kilgore College dormitories. Building a new nest means confusion, learning to adapt and meeting strangers.

Opening your door with your shiny new key and finding someone sitting on the extra bed, someone soon to be your closest friend, is a frightening yet exhilarating experience. Forget privacy! Communal showers are the order of the day. There is always someone around so you don't have to feel alone.

Making a lifestyle change is a task often undertaken with little guidance. First experiences at sharing bathrooms, laundry (doing your own!) and watching television as if you were in a drive-in movie can be challenging.

But it isn't all hardship and survival. Living on campus can bring many new friendships. Being thrust into a plain white cubical with only you and your roomie's ideas of how to convert it to home brings clashes, diplomacy and genuine camaraderie in the end.

Then, too, living on campus is cheap when you compare the average cost of off-campus apartments and expenses. Room and board totals less than seven dollars per day. You can complain, but it would be tough to find a more economical way to live. Though this writer leaves the Kilgore College dorm to a renewed and cozy family surrounding once again, I can truthfully say that I am more adept in communal social skills. I have endured. I will not make waves at home.

McLaurin sets direction with leadership

Commenting on this historic 50th year of the school's existence, Dr. Stewart McLaurin, president of Kilgore College, said, "The final and primary responsibility of this office is to provide leadership in setting tone and direction for the future of the institution." During this special fiftieth anniversary year, Dr. McLaurin feels that there is "a great appreciation for this institution and the characteristics which have made it a great institution" among the faculty, staff, and students.

Kilgore College has been steadily involved in celebrating the fiftieth anniversary starting with the opening faculty meeting in which former student, John Hill Jr., Chief Justice of the Texas Supreme Court, presented the Texana collection to the Randolph C. Waston Library of Kilgore College. This was followed by the "First Class Day" celebration and homecoming with both centered around the fiftieth theme. The celebrating continued with the fourth annual employee service awards banquet and a very special performance by the Rangerettes and the Ranger Band at the 60th annual Shrine football game in San Francisco at Stanford Stadium.

During the fall semester McLaurin attended a meeting of the Southern Association of Junior Colleges in Atlanta, Georgia where the ever present subject of education was the main issue. McLaurin feels that quality is the key to education. More emphasis should be placed on the end product instead of the process within education, he said. "We will see in the near future a greater emphasis on research at Kilgore College to substantiate the quality of the end product of education."

This stands as McLaurin's first "fast and very complex" year of a three-year term as President of the Texas Public Community/Junior College Association. The TPCJCA is made up of 48 public junior colleges in Texas. This being a legislature year, a great deal of time has been spent with the legislature to get funding for the colleges. Non-funding issues such as state mandated tuition, single member districts for trustees, and state mandated tuition exemptions were discussed with the legislature.

Looking at Kilgore College's next fifty years McLaurin believes, "this institution is well postured for entering its second half century." Dr. McLaurin confirms that Kilgore College will continue to meet the needs of a wide constituency with emphasis on quality, and KC will continue to provide the programs and services sought after by incoming students. To sum up his thoughts, the president said, "Whatever degree of success we enjoy will be directly attributable to the outstanding characteristics of the faculty and staff assembled for the purposes of educational enterprise."

Board of Trustees Sets KC Policies

The legal control of this institution is vested in the nine member Kilgore College Board of Trustees. The board determines policies which govern the college operations and activities. Members are elected for six year terms by the voters of the Kilgore College district. This district includes the cities of Kilgore, Overton, West Rusk, Gladewater, Sabine, White Oak and Leverette's Chapel. Upon recommendation by the President of Kilgore College, the board hires all members of the faculty, professional staff and administration for Kilgore College.

The board has a broad set of responsibilities. The external functions of the group are to represent the community and interpret social trends in terms of institutional policies; to obtain funds for the operation and extension of the institution; and to bear the legal responsibility and authority for all aspects of operation of the college. The board's internal functions include responsibility for final determination of institutional policies, confirming or rejecting such matters as establishment of scales of tuition and fees. The selection of a president is the most important single act of a board of trustees.

The board is a policy-making body, not an executive agency. The board approves such things as major building projects, annual budget and audit, new faculty and administration and plant renovation projects.

Administrators carry out KC's policies

KILGORE

Perhaps few of us have taken the time to investigate or wonder about the functions of the various people whose efforts keep the cogs of daily business turning at KC. To enlighten both the student and faculty, we have listed these people in the administration and some of their duties.

The Vice President of Academic Affairs, Dr. Wade Kirk, is chief instructional officer for the college and coordinates the specific functions of the various deans and directors of KC. Kirk recommends prospective employees to the President. Working closely with the business manager and budgetary heads, the Vice President aids in assembly of the college's instructional budget. Instrumental in the interpretation of policy and procedural matters, he assists other administrators in communicating these policies and procedures to the faculty and staff. In addition to serving as liaison officer from the college to area schools, groups, agencies and individuals, Kirk is responsible for approving college publications such as catalogs, bulletins, brochures, and calendars.

Jim Campbell, Dean of Student Services, is responsible for directing or coordinating the activities and/or services for all students of the Kilgore College District. In addition to scheduling assemblies for students and staff, he directs student clubs, student housing, intercollegiate athletics, University Interscholastic League competition conducted on campus, and has over-all supervision of the student center. He also coordinates activities of the Ranger Band and Rangerettes, Cheerleaders, and supervises the Ranger yearbook and college photographer.

The Director of Public Relations, Jeanne Hale, interprets college policies, programs and activities to the general public. She prepares and releases college news to the media, which includes five newspapers and ten radio and television stations in this area. Hale also serves as administration liaison with the Kilgore College Ex-Students Association and publishes the newsletter for that organization.

Bert Woodruff is the Business Manager of the Kilgore College District. Woodruff's responsibilities include budget preparation and operation, accounting and reporting, collection of income and disbursement of funds. In addition to the college business functions, he is accountable for physical plant maintenance and operation, security and purchasing. His office also supervises the general operation of the Financial Aids office and the Computer Center. Woodruff also serves as recording secretary to the Board of Trustees.

Administration links observed

Charles B. Florio, Dean of Arts and Sciences, is responsible for the instructional program of all college credit courses of a university parallel nature. He plans, organizes, supervises and administers the instructional program of these courses. Florio also maintains liason with other colleges and universities on matters relating to instruction and transfer of credits.

Gerald W. Pinson, Dean of Continuing Education, works to develop and schedule credit and non-credit courses to make KC's educational resourses more readily available to area citizens. He administers and schedules non-credit and non-semester-length courses, workshops and institutes. He also makes arrangements for all physical facilities necessary for the operation of continuing education.

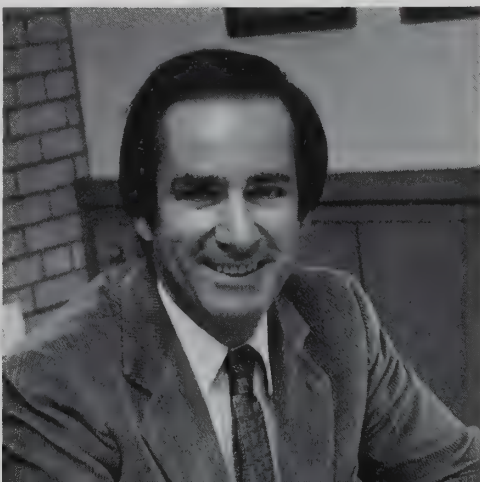

Dean of Occupational Education, Leslie L. Matthews, is responsible for developing new programs of Occupational Education and for revising existing programs in accordance with the employment needs of business and industry. In cooperation with the Director of Guidance Services, he gives leadership and direction to Occupation Education counselors, and provides assistance in conducting studies of drop-outs and job performance of graduates.

Joe Hendrix, Dean of the Longview Center, is responsible for the development and supervision of the instructional programs offered through the teaching center in Longview. Hendrix works with the community to determine the educational and training needs and implements instructional offerings to meet area requirements. As Dean of the Longview Center, he also has the responsibility for determining the interests and implementing non-credit continuing education courses.

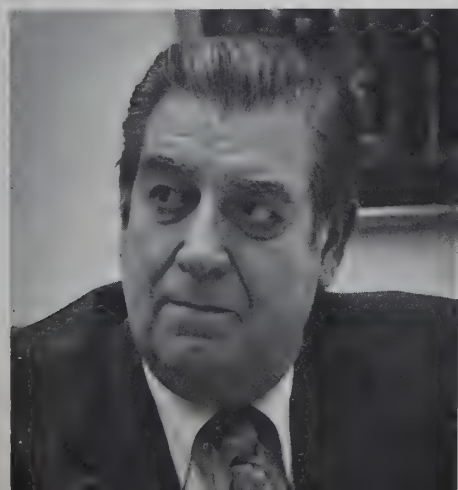

Joe B. Cruseturner, Registrar and Director of Admissions, is responsible for the admissions policy of the college and coordinates the procedure for registration of students. In addition to the responsibility of the preparation and publication of the college catalog, he cooperates with the Guidance Services Center in the areas of recruiting and general soliciting of students.

Departments

B.A. programs of one, two and

The Business Administration Division offers both one and two-year programs in accounting, data processing, general business, secretarial science, a one-year clerk-typist-receptionist program and the first two years of four-year programs in both business administration and computer science. The one and two-year programs prepare students for employment upon graduation. The four-year students receive courses which transfer to major universities. Many students in business and computer science evening courses already have degrees and jobs but are updating or upgrading their knowledge and skills.

The business and data processing curriculum is currently comprised of 55 courses, several of which, such as computer literacy, have recently been added.

As part of a continuous effort to keep up with changes in technology, the division recently added 30 microcomputers and 36 electronic typewriters to its laboratories and replaced its older mainframe computer with a new, more technologically advanced superminicomputer, which will have 60 video display terminals available for student use.

The business and data processing programs have experienced a strong enrollment in recent years as students become increasingly aware of the many excellent job opportunities in these fields. This trend is expected to continue in the future.

Communications Division

Division stresses basics and creativity

One of the largest divisions on campus, the Communications Division encompasses the areas of English, Spanish, French, German, reading speech and philosophy. Also included are journalism, of which The Flare, the student newspaper, is a product and broadcasting, of which KCTV cable television station is a product. New equipment and new techniques are utilized to keep both these programs abreast of industry.

Communications courses have many aims. They seek to improve the basic reading, writing and composition skills of the average student while giving students a chance to realize individual thoughts and creative ideas. Another goal accomplished by communications is seen in the self-discipline utilized by its students in their studies. This self-discipline will carry over later by proving to be a valuable characteristic sought by employers.

ES equips student for university standards

In addition to offering the fundamental science courses such as biology, chemistry, physics and geometry, the Engineering-Science Division of Kilgore College also offers courses in both math and engineering. The math courses offered include algebra, analytic geometry and calculus while the traditional engineering courses, graphics, engineering analysis, surveying and statistics, are also taught. The majority of these programs are turned toward the benefit of the preprofessional students of medicine, dentistry and engineering.

By maintaining awareness of, and implanting the most modern teaching methods, the Engineering-Science division hopes to reach its goal of meeting the ever changing needs of its students. A self set goal of the ES instructors is to get to know their students better. Another goal of the entire department is that of meeting and bypassing the educational standards found at the university level, in order that its students will be prepared upon entering a major university.

Many courses and small classes offered

The Kilgore College Fine Arts Division encompasses three related, yet different departments; Theater, Dance, Music and Art. Divisional Director Raymond Caldwell feels that the Fine Arts division has a responsibility greater than to just its students. This responsibility extends to the entire community. The community views and judges a school according to the performance of its Fine Arts Division. He correlated this to the way people tend to judge schools according to the performance of their athletic programs.

In comparison to other Texas junior colleges, KC offers more Fine Arts courses than any of the others. Because it is a relatively small division, it can afford to offer its students an almost unequaled opportunity for personal attention and chances to perform. Another advantage of its small size is found in the cooperation between students on many different projects.

28 courses offer three-fold purpose

The Physical Education division of Kilgore College has a three-fold aim when they consider how to best benefit a college student with this integral part of his total education. The first aim is to provide a learning environment that is realistic in terms of the fitness conscious society in which we live today. A wide range of activities are offered in a wholesome setting to provide all students an opportunity to become a part of this movement as an active participant.

The second aim is to provide experiences that foster positive changes in a student's feeling about himself. Self-discipline, confidence, and pride can be gained through meeting physical challenges in a way that no other form of expression can provide. Kilgore College strives to challenge physical education students regardless of their level of development when they arrive on campus, whether it be through the learning of new skills, or improving some already possessed.

The third aim of the Physical Education division is to provide its students with a variety of tools that will enable them to enjoy a lifetime of health and fitness. Twenty-eight activities are offered, each designed to give students an opportunity to enjoy a lifestyle that is more enjoyable and more productive in their years ahead.

Kilgore College enjoys top-notch facilities that are used not only for teaching courses leading to college credit, but also for adult education classes, intramural sports, and other recreational and competitive play. The P.E. complex is a popular hangout for students looking for a break in a routine of study

Social Sciences Division

Social Sciences Div. has six areas of study

The Social Science Division offers courses designed to meet requirements for graduation from state-supported colleges and universities in Texas. These courses, which include anthropology, geography, government, history, psychology and sociology, provide the foundation for meeting degree requirements for social science and other liberal arts majors.

The use of field trips, lectures by guest speakers and the extensive use of audio-visual facilities to supplement its courses allows the students to gain first-hand knowledge of their subject.

Small class sizes are average for the Social Science Division enabling teachers to work more on a one-to-one basis with the student.

Technical, Vocational and Occupational Division

Classes provide a variety in many careers

A wide variety of skills and disciplines are taught in the Technical/Vocational Division that give the students hands on experience. Included are programs such as computer assisted drafting, electronics, welding, machine shop, corrosion technology and industrial technology.

Most students enrolled in these programs are seeking skills which make them employable after one or two years of instruction, although many do continue their education at the university level. Instructors take an active part in helping the students develop the necessary skills and assist in obtaining employment. While stimulating the mental faculties of its students, the Technical/Vocational Division concentrates on developing motor skills also. This combination produces an employable entry level student who can progress and stay current with technological changes. Field trips and guest speakers help to keep the student up to date on information about the latest technology.

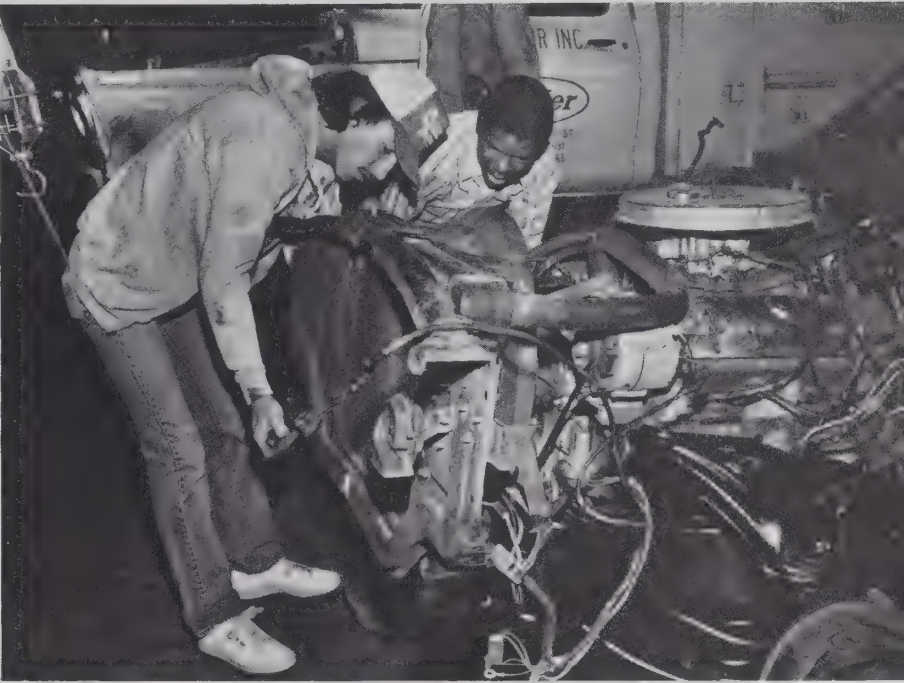

Other programs offered in this division are cosmetology, photography, horology, auto mechanics, commercial art and petroleum technology.

Kilgore College-Longview Center

LV Center is unique, convenient

The primary purpose of the Longview Center is to provide members of that community who cannot travel to the main campus in Kilgore an opportunity to attend KC classes in Longview. But, it also serves other functions. One of these functions is that KC at Longview offers some courses the main school does not have. Some of these are: fire protection, child development and brick laying. It also offers apprenticeships on both carpentry and electricity.

Continuing Education Division

Personal and professional goals realized

The Kilgore College Continuing Education Division provides adults with an opportunity to invest their spare time wisely through increasing their professional and/or personal capacities.

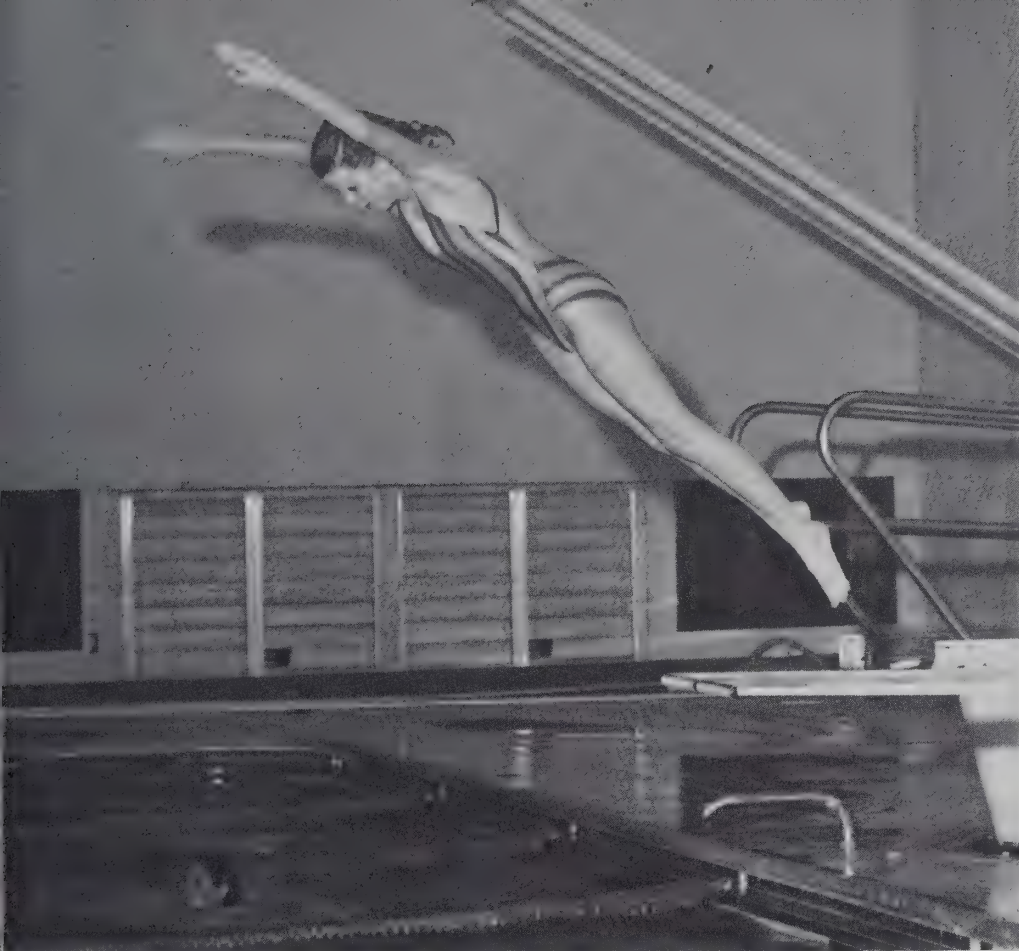

The professional, or trade courses, cover a large band of skills in both trade and skilled occupations. The aim of these courses is to give the student an up-to-date education covering all facets of the course, in order to make him a better employee with above average opportunities for advancement.

Personal enrichment, or hobby courses, are offered so that the people of the area can perfect their skills in areas of their own personal interests. Success of these courses is found when students are able to fully utilize and enjoy their leisure time.

Both areas are very popular and undoubtedly a necessary public service to the community.

Kilgore opens with win over RJC

In KC's season grid opener, the Rangers rallied from a 14-0 deficit at halftime and came back from a 20-16 score to take a 30-20 victory over the Ranger JC Rangers.

KC fell behind on the first play of the second quarter when Ranger capped an 80-yard march with a 4-yard touchdown run. Ranger rolled 77 yards on nine plays with its next possession to score another strike against Kilgore.

Neither team was able to score the rest of the half as punts were traded. With the guests pinned back at their own ten the RJC punter's kick was blocked by sophomore noseguard Tip Harris (66) and Kilgore cornerback Jimmy Jackson (30) recovered in the end zone for six points. Gregg Roach (51) added the PAT.

On Kilgore's next possession the team marched 53 yards in six plays to score on an 8-yard carry by Paul Butler (21). Roach followed by splitting the uprights on a 21 yard field goal to give Kilgore a 16-14 lead in the final frame.

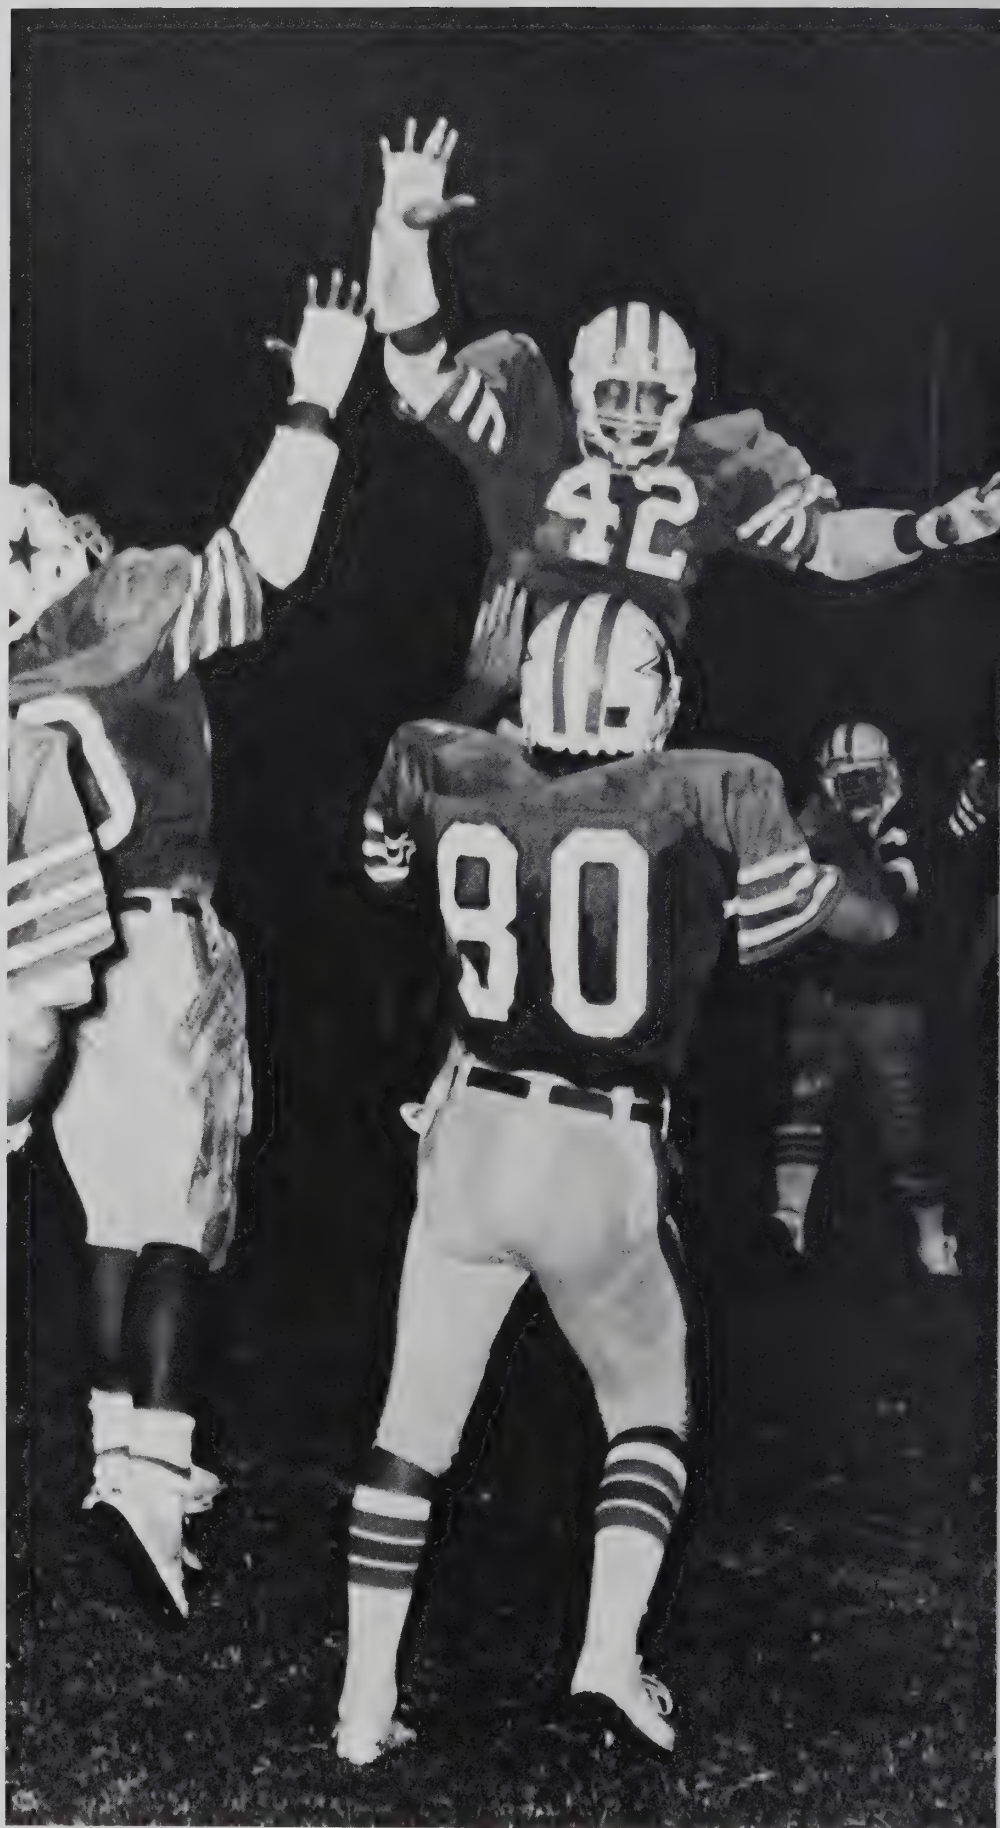

Ranger answered with an 82 yard TD carry. Then KC quarterback Clifton Thurmond (10) engineered a quick three-play drive to score on an aerial connection with wide receiver Michael Cooper (14). Roach converted with 4:28 left bringing the score to 23-20.

KC vs Wharton

The Kilgore College Rangers rallied to win for the second straight week as they nipped Wharton County, 22-21, in the Texas Junior College Football Conference opener.

A scoreless first quarter was marked by no first downs for either team as the defenses dominated. The Rangers put their first points on the board when a 27-yard Thurmond (10) run set up a 16-yard Flournoy (22) scoring run in the second stanza. A big block by Baron Berry (88) sprung Flournoy for the six, and Roach (51) added the PAT kick.

The rest of the Rangers' points came near the end of the first half when KC assembled a 9-play, 73-yard attack that culminated on a 4-yard TD carry by Thurmond. Roach's PAT boot made it 14-0 with 37 seconds left in the half.

The Pioneers struck three times in the third quarter on scoring passes from Brizendine, and with 4:04 remaining in the third period, Wharton went ahead of the Rangers with a score of 21-14.

KC put together an 11-play, 94-yard scoring march that consumed just 1:46 and ended on a 4-yard strike from Clifton Thurmond to Calvin Neal (24) with just 40 seconds to play. Thurmond then hit halfback Delbert Flournoy with a swing pass, and the receiver beat the Pioneer secondary to the goal line flag for the deciding two-point conversion.

KC vs HCJC

Both teams expected a tough fight, but HCJC came out on top to hand the Rangers their first loss, 24-12 in the Ranger's first battle of the season with the opponents from Athens.

Defensively, Henderson held Kilgore signal-caller Clifton Thurmond (10) in check and gave KC receivers little room to breathe. Thurmond finished by completing 21 of 33 passes for 286, but suffered four interceptions.

KC looked like it might take charge of the game early as Lance Westman (41) recovered a bobbled snap at the HCJC 24-yard line. But the Rangers could not put the ball across the goal line and had to settle for a field goal by Greg Roach (51).

HCJC struck right back in six plays to take the lead for the rest of the night. KC managed to drive to the Cardinal's 5-yard line, but again had to settle for a field goal as the Cardinal defense thwarted a touchdown. The third quarter was a scoreless one, with the Cardinals apparently saving up steam for the final period as they exploded for 17 points in the stanza to put the game out of reach.

Kilgore's lone score came in the final moments when Thurmond drilled Baron Barry (88) with a 10-yard pass.

The loss dropped KC to 2-1 overall and 1-1 in conference play at that point in the season.

KC VS BLINN

Paul Butler (21), Kilgore's most prolific rushing back, gained 225 yards in 40 carries in KC's first win against the team from Brenham, Texas, 23-14. The Buccaneers were held to 28 rushing yards.

Keith Zoch (71), Tip Harris (66) and Prince Raymond (40) denied Blinn a touchdown after a Ranger fumble and turnover on KC's first offensive play.

Kilgore was held to one touchdown and a failed goal in the first half. Harris recovered a fumble on the Bucs and quarterback Clifton Thurmond (10) connected with split end Joseph Hopkins (81) on a 37-yard touchdown pass. The extra point was good by defensive end Greg Roach (51), who also kicked a field goal just before halftime that was set up by a 42-yard pass from Thurmond to KC's flanker Baron Berry (88).

Blinn Scored two touchdowns in the first half, but missed on a two point conversion when Ranger corner back Jimmie Jackson (30) intercepted. The Buc's big play was a 66-yard bomb, but the drive was stopped when KC freshman free safety John Craft (44) bulldogged the Buc tight end.

The second half belonged to the Rangers featuring drives of 97 and 94 yards, most of them by Butler. Bill Hooper (33), KC full back, got his first touchdown with a 1-yard plunge and Berry caught a two point conversion pass. Quarter back Thurmond made the last touchdown with a 1-yard keeper and Roach added the extra point. The Bucs were shut out in the second half.

TYLER VS KC

The 20-3 Tyler victory over Kilgore was a challenging first contest in R.E. St. John Memorial Stadium. The muddied field and continuous rain did not keep the No. 1 ranked Apaches from gaining scores.

During the second quarter, the Rangers missed three scoring opportunities. The first field goal attempt from 38-yards out was blocked. The Ranger defense held and after the Apache punt to the KC 49, the Kilgore team marched to the 1-yard line. On fourth down KC went for seven as the give went to Paul Bulter (21), but the KC tailback was hit by a Tyler tackle for no gain. On their next possession, KC's Calvin Neal (24) returned the kick 23 yards. The first down attempt was unsuccessful and Greg Roach's (51) failed field goal attempt from 36 yards out was wide to the right. Tyler's first touchdown with 6:54 left in the first half was the result of a trick play. From a reverse set up the end threw a 36-yard bomb to the receiver. A field goal with 16 seconds left in the half put TJC in the locker room with a 10-0 lead.

During the third quarter, TJC added another touchdown and the Rangers answered with a successful 25-yard field goal. With 2:24 left to play, TJC added the final score of the game with a field goal bringing the score to 20-3. This contest left Kilgore with 3-2 for the season and TJC remained undefeated 6-0.

CISCO VS KC

Kilgore lost a non-conference game to the Cisco JC Wranglers with a final score of 23-19 in Cisco.

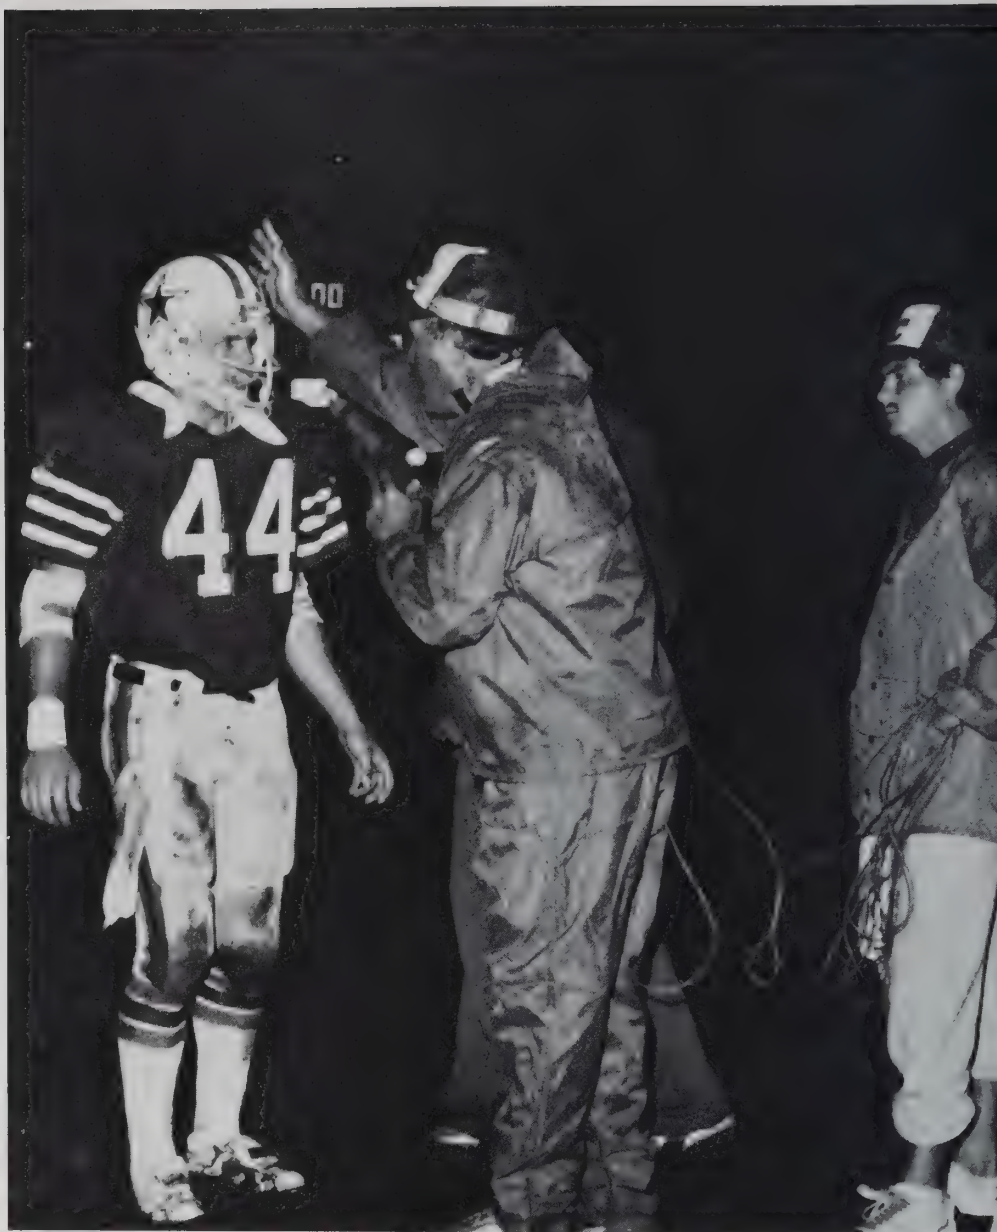

Cisco missed a field goal after a 14 play drive on their first possession. Three plays later, Cisco got the ball back after KC quarterback Clifton Thurmond (10) fumbled the ball on KC's own 22-yard line. Cisco then scored with a 22-yard pass-play and a complete PAT with 7:22 left in the first quarter. Kilgore coughed up the ball again on the third down when a Thurmond-to-flanker Baron Berry (88) pass was intercepted and returned to KC's 37. The Wranglers scored in nine plays and the PAT try was good.

Early in the second quarter, KC tailback Paul Butler (21) scored on a 52 yard run. The PAT attempt was blocked for no score. On Cisco's next possession they added three more points with a 43-yard field goal before the clock ran out in the first half.

The Rangers held the Wranglers scoreless during the third quarter while adding six more points of their own with a 40-yard pass from Thurmond to Berry, but a two-point pass from Thurmond to Bill Hooper(33), KC's fullback, was not completed.

The Rangers pulled ahead early in the fourth quarter with a 24-yard scoring pass from Thurmond to Joseph Hopkins(81), split end. The PAT kick brought the score to 19-17. Late in the game with only 1:26 left to play, the Wranglers connected on a 63-yard touchdown pass. A two-point conversion attempt was tried, but Kilgore's Greg Roach (51) defensive end, broke up the play with a quarterback sack.

Showing great heart, Kilgore never gave up hope and drove to the Wranglers' 41-yard line in eight plays only to have the last end zone pass batted away.

KC VS WHARTON

The Rangers, with a 21-7 victory over the Wharton Pioneers from Wharton County, improved their record to 4-3 on the season and 3-2 in conference play.

Before the first quarter ended with exchanging punts, Lance Westman (41), KC's line backer, recovered a pitch back that was fumbled by the Pioneers' halfback. The defensive Pioneers succeeded in halting their opponents and forced Rangers to punt.

Early in the second quarter, Baron Berry (88), Ranger flanker, caught a 13-yard pass in the end zone by quarterback Clifton Thurmond (10). With 13:41 on the clock, Greg Roach (51), KC defensive end, successfully kicked a conversion point that gave Kilgore a 7-0 lead. After KC's defense forced Wharton to punt, and with 1:06 left in the half, KC drove 81 yards in eight plays. The touchdown was complete when Thurmond threw a 56 yard pass to Joseph Hopkins (81), KC split end, and the conversion point was added by Roach.

Opening the second half, Thurmond received a hard hit and fumbled the ball to the Pioneers at the Kilgore 29-yard line. Saving KC, nose guard Tip Harris (66) and defensive tackle Keith Zoch (71) sacked the Pioneer quarterback. The Pioneers finally scored when they blocked and recovered a Ranger punt in the end zone. With 7:36 left to play, the Pioneers added the conversion point that made the score 14-7.

During the last quarter, the game was sealed with a 69-yard drive which consisted of 15-yards by Paul Butler (21), KC tailback, 23-yards by Thurmond and a 14-yard touchdown by John Craft (44). With 1:26 left on the clock, Roach added the conversion point.

KC VS HCJC

The KC homecoming did not end as Ranger fans had hoped. The Henderson County Cardinals won a close 22-20 second contest in R.E. St. John Memorial Stadium.

A Clifton Thurmond (10) quarterback-to-flanker pass to Mike Cooper (14) resulted in a 71-yard touchdown play with 3:33 left in the first frame. But the points were called back because of an illegal procedure penalty. KC's second possession of the ball resulted from strong safety Prince Raymond's (40) interception. Subsequently, KC was unable to score. Throughout the rest of the first quarter strong defenses and the swapping of punts took place.

During the first three and one half minutes of the second quarter, possessions ended with five consecutive turnovers. KC's first score of the game was set up with a 42-yard Thurmond-to-Cooper pass. The touchdown was scored by tailback Paul Butler (21) and the successful conversion point by defensive end Greg Roach (51). The first half closed with Kilgore ahead 7-0.

Although the Cards were successful with a 27-yard touchdown pass, the two-point conversion fell incomplete. Kilgore answered with a Thurmond hit to Baron Berry (88) flanker, with a 27-yard touchdown pass and an unsuccessful conversion point. With a 51-yard Cardinal touchdown bomb and the PAT pass missed, the third quarter score was a 12-6 Cardinal lead.

A sailing snap by the Rangers was recovered by the Cards in KC's end zone with a complete conversion point. Regaining the lead, KC's Thurmond hit Cooper on an 11-yard touchdown and the conversion kick by Roach was good.

With 26 seconds left to play, the Cards pulled through with a 27-yard field goal leaving the score a final 22-20.

KC VS BLINN

KC's defensive line and a potent offense combined to give the Rangers a 29-26 win over Blinn College. Total offense for the Rangers was a whopping 532 yards, while the front line held the Buccaneers ground game to a meager 67 yards.

Blinn drew first blood on their first possession as a result of a 32-yard pass. The Rangers then tied it 7-7 with a 71-yard march. A razzle-dazzle play set up the score when a reverse and pass from flanker Mike Cooper (14) to flanker Baron Berry (88) gained 61 yards. Paul Butler (21), KC's tailback, then scored from nine yards out. KC had three more field goal attempts foiled before Blinn got on the score board again by picking off a bobbled KC hand-off and rushing 25-yards for the touchdown. Their PAT conversion failed. The Blinn defense held and forced KC to punt. Blinn then drove 71-yards for a touchdown. The two point conversion run was spoiled by KC's cornerback Calvin Neal (24) and defensive end James Lathan (55).

Trailing the Bucs 19-7 at the half, the Rangers put together a scoring drive culminating with Berry leaping to catch the touchdown pass from Thurmond. Roach added the PAT. Blinn answered with a 75 yard bomb and a successful PAT for a 26-14 lead with 9:31 left in the third quarter which proved to be their last score. KC marched 64 yards in eight plays as Butler scored behind center Clint Gregg (52).

During the fourth quarter KC pulled ahead for the first time after a 72-yard march ending with an eight yard reception by split end Joseph Hopkins (81). A two-point conversion was added with a Thurmond-to-tight end Mike Jackson (86) toss. Blinn threatened again and got to KC's 2-yard line. With fourth and goal, a field goal would have tied the game but Blinn elected to try a run for the win. KC free safety, Mike Kirkindoll (80), caught the Buccaneer's running back, Howard Hawkins for a seven yard loss on the end sweep to end the threat.

Rangers Ruin Tyler's Homecoming

The Rangers ruined Tyler's homecoming with a 28-22 in Rose Stadium in Tyler. This win brought Kilgore to 6-4 for the season.

Kilgore's first score at 7:44 in quarter one was set up by KC corner back Jimmie Jackson (30), who jarred the ball loose from Apache fullback Marvin Allen, and KC's free safety John Craft (44) recovered the ball on the Apache 35. Paul Butler (21), KC's tailback, carried the ball over for a nine yard touchdown run. The PAT try was unsuccessful, but due to an Apache offside penalty the Rangers got another shot at the uprights and Greg Roach's (51) second try put one more on the board. With 36 seconds left in the first quarter, Ranger Clifton Thurmond (10) made a touchdown with a four yard keeper. Roach added the complete PAT. Two major plays in this drive were passes from Thurmond to Baron Berry (88) for 27 and 20 yards.

Opening the second quarter, a Kilgore fumble set up Tyler's first touchdown. The rest of the first half was dominated by both defenses leaving the score 14-7.

During third quarter, Tyler scored again tying 14-14 with KC. Kilgore then pulled ahead when blocks by offensive tackle Jim Box (75) and tight end James Lathan (85) opened a hole for a 10 yard run by fullback Bill Hooper (33). Vance Hale (55), KC center, substituted for Roach who was injured. The PAT was no good. The Rangers scored again four plays later when Mike Jackson (86), linebacker, and Mike Kirkindoll (80), free safety, teamed up to tackle an Apache halfback behind the goal line. The ensuing Apache kick was only good for 36 yards and KC's Hooper (33) fumbled the ball over to Tyler. Tyler then drove 64 yards in eleven plays to make the score 22 all with a two point conversion. With 2:31 left to play, the Apaches missed a 53 yard field goal. The Rangers moved the ball to the six yard line in six plays. KC freshman tailback Rodney Murphy (45) substituted for the injured Butler, took the ball in for the winning touchdown. Hale's PAT kick was blocked and a fight broke out on the field resulting in a 15-yard penalty against Kilgore on the kickoff. Tyler's chance to win the game was ended when Craft intercepted a pass and returned the ball to the Apache one yard line. Kilgore fell on the ball for the next two downs to end the game.

Young Republicans

A new club at KC this year is the Young Republicans. This group actively participates in political candidates campaigns. Their duties range from campaigning door to door to helping with community campaigns.

During the 1984 Presidential elections, they were at the Republican Headquarters doing their part to help. On three different occasions during 1984, the Young Republicans brought politicians to KC, among them was prominent James Watt.

45th Year In San Francisco

In 1940, a woman by the name of Gussie Nell Davis was asked to assemble a group of young ladies to perform at KC halftimes. Originally, the purpose of this group was to keep the fans in their seats. The group did just that, as the football aficionados quietly watched the Rangerettes first dazzling performance. Gussie Nell Davis must have done a fine job, because the popularity of these girls soon rose.

Since its early days, the group has traveled to Hong Kong, to both coasts of the United States, performed with famous personalities, and has been featured in well-known publications. Now, in 1985, the Kilgore College Rangerettes celebrate their 45th anniversary while halftime performances still remain one of the highlights of a KC football game. After all, the crowds have occupied the stands for 45 years since.

Stage Band

The Kilgore College Stage Band, comprised of musicians from the Ranger Band, learns a variety of styles of music. These styles include rock, pop, jazz, and ballads featuring solo instruments or section work in the style of the Big Band Era. The Stage Band plays for local high school assemblies, conventions across the state, and is always a favorite at Rangerette Revels. Last spring the Stage Band gave a spring concert with plans to make it an annual event.

KC's 1984-85 Ranger Band

The Kilgore College Ranger Band is perhaps synonymous with dedication, spirit, and hard work. This group, under the direction of Jerry Hale, has worked hard to maintain high standards and has established a reputation of excellence through the years.

A new addition to the staff is Michael Turpin, an undergraduate from Lamar University in Beaumont who received his master's from the University of South Carolina. Turpin is currently the assistant band director.

This year, the Ranger Band will travel to Dallas to perform with the Rangerettes in the Cotton Bowl parade and also in the pre-game show. Immediately after the game, they will leave for San Francisco to perform in the East/West Shrine Bowl Game.

Plans for the Spring Semester include the annual Spring Concert after the Rangerette Revels, stage band appearances in local high schools, and alas, summer band. Summer band and Rangerette training begin simultaneously in August.

Five ladies and one gentleman represented the 1984-85 Ranger Cheerleader group. Starting at the bottom and moving clockwise are: Timmy Lunsford, Tammy Kay Bonjo, Charlene Dickinson, La Nell Turner, Angela Johnson, and Kim Liudahl. The group attended a cheerleading camp in Memphis, Tennessee where they learned acrobatic routines and cheers to better lead Kilgore College's student body during pep rallies, football games and basketball games.

85 Ranger Staffers Present 48th Yearbook

The 1984-85 RANGER yearbook staff produced what they felt would best represent the Golden Anniversary celebration of Kilgore College. Incorporating material from old yearbooks with the new, the staff hoped to accomplish what this book stands for: memories, tradition and a faithful record of this school year's events at Kilgore College. These memories include old and new friends, experiences, and fun while at KC.

The Flare Founded 48 Years Ago

Forty-eight years ago, on Nov. 9, 1936, one of KC's oldest traditions was created. The Flare was originally called The Ranger until a contest was held by the KC Board of Publications to choose a new name. The $5 prize went to Margie Reynolds who used her newly-acquired fortune to buy a ready-made gingham dress.

During the East Texas Oil Boom, a flare was a bright fire atop oil derricks that occurred when petroleum products were burned off at night. The Flare, therefore, was symbolized as a light of knowledge radiating from the college district.

Since the sentimental days of yesteryear, The Flare has undergone several changes. In 1936, it was a four-page weekly. In 1938 The Flare was an eight-page monthly. The war years of 1943-44 did not even see The Flare in order to save paper for the war effort.

The college newspaper was an inspiring institution during the 1960s and 1970s until a shortage of journalism students caused it to be discontinued from 1977 to 1979. The reinstatement of The Flare in 1979 by communications director Elwyn Bone has made it possible for KC students to enjoy the advantages and privileges a campus newspaper has to offer.

To date, The Flare is published by the journalism students every Friday except during examinations and vacations. It is a member of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association, the Texas Junior College Press Association and the Rocky Mountain Collegiate Press Association.

Dance Club

The Kilgore College Dance Club is an organization that promotes campus and community interest and involvement in the art of dance. Dance Club members are given an opportunity to learn what dance can offer them, and they are encouraged to create and choreograph dances outside the classroom.

Dancers in the club learn not only the technical skills, but also how to work and create with others. Club members perform for schools and civic organizations. Dancers plan field trips to professional dance productions where they hope to observe, emulate and learn.

Membership is open to students who have satisfactorily completed a dance class.

Broadcasting Club

Kilgore College students interested in learning more about the electronic media's operation and function in society may join the Broadcasting Club. Most students are enrolled in broadcasting courses and participate in electronic coverage and recording of campus news events. The club combined their efforts with those of the Yearbook Staff and the Press Club to produce a 12 foot Kilgore College Fighting Ranger, which won second place for homecoming display.

Membership in the Chorale is open to any Kilgore College student interested in music of all periods. Concerts include an annual performance at the Texas State Fair and two major works each year. This group has performed with the Shreveport and Longview Symphony Orchestras.

KC Connection

The KC Connection was a new group on campus last year. Under the direction of Dale Miller, the group performed for pep rallies, the Ranger beauty elections, civic clubs and area high schools as well as for the State Fair of Texas.

In order to become a member of this group, a student must audition and also be a member of the Concert Choir.

Madrigals

The Madrigal Singers are a select group of students who perform music of the Renaissance period. The featured event of the year is the annual Feast of Carols dinner held during December.

Robed in colorful costumes of the period, performers sing and dance while others feast on Cornish game hen, Yorkshire pudding, Wassail and flaming plum pudding. For this special occasion, the Community House is transformed into an Elizabethan banquet hall complete with knight's armour, candlelight and lilting harpsichord and lute music in the background.

"It's very gratifying to be involved with something so popular in the East Texas area," said director, Dale Miller. "You know when people call for reservations three months in advance, you are stepping into something that has been done very well. We will continue that tradition."

Alpha Rho Theta

Alpha Rho Theta, the art club of Kilgore College, is dedicated to the promotion of interest in art among students of the general campus.

Another facet of the art club brings the art students together for special projects and occasional parties and trips.

During the fall semester the club's main project was a trip to the Dallas Museum of Art. Another trip was scheduled for the spring semester in which the art club will travel to Fort Worth to visit various museums and galleries.

Business Club

The Business Club is an educational group for all students in the business administration department. Membership is open to all students pursuing a career in business administration, data processing, general business and secretarial science programs. The group sponsors professional and social events.

The Business Club plans a trip per semester for its members. This year they went to Texas Eastman. The club was formed a few years ago by the Stenoettes, the Entrepreneurs, and the Data Processing Club. They schedule two parties, one at Christmas and one at the end of the year.

TMMA

The Texas Marketing and Management Association, formerly the Kilgore Marketing and Management Association, is dedicated to the training and developing of competent professionals geared to meet challenges facing the business world now and in the future.

This group considers its activities influential in many civic organizations, and its program allows the marketing and management students to become involved in the world of business today. State and national contests, sponsored by Texas Marketing and Management Association and Distributive Education Corps of America enable students to apply their skills in actual situations where they are needed.

Oil & Gas

The Oil and Gas Club is designed to benefit students interested in the exploration, development, and production of petroleum products. The club sponsors field trips around the East Texas area and presents speakers and other related programs concerned with the various aspects of the petroleum industry.

The club is a co-educational organization and membership is open to any student interested in the oil and gas industry and its related fields.

BSU

"BSU is geared toward college kids being able to better relate to Christ, therefore being able to relate to others better," said Baptist Student Union Director John Pierce.

Not only does the BSU serve as a cornerstone to campus religious life through their morning devotionals and Monday evening "vespers" they provide a Christian atmosphere for fellowship among students through their free lunch program, through their bi-yearly retreats, after the football "Fifth Quarter" informals. In addition, the BSU members are active in maintaining several outreach ministries. They provide support and comfort for the sick and disabled by visiting them in area hospitals.

Police Science Pistol Club

The Kilgore College Law Enforcement Pistol Club, under the sponsorship of Mr. Bill Echart, is comprised of students from varied backgrounds. All have the same intent, to become proficient in the handling and use of firearms. Through knowledge of the weapon and it's use, limitations, and capabilities, the Pistol Club members become more responsible adults, and that is the Club's primary aim. The Club has informal luncheons, parties and a fund raising dinner each year, club members are afforded the opportunity to participate in a field trip annually, alternating between Houston and Austin, with emphasis placed on prospective jobs in law enforcement. The Club's motto is "The Badge Means You Care."

Rodeo Club

Kilgore College's Rodeo Club strives to keep interest in rodeo events alive and to keep members informed on news about the rodeo circuit, rodeo requirements and rodeo competition. Local members have close affiliation with the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association(NIRA) members.

The club is involved in many fund-raising projects throughout the year. Perhaps the most important event the club sponsors each year is the local NIRA Rodeo. Participating students may, as long as they belong to NIRA, enter a variety of events, including bull riding, calf roping, bull dogging, bronco riding, barrel racing, and other events.

New geologist is happy

The earth under our feet is more than just dirt and rocks to Dr. Ula Moody, new KC geology instructor. Her views dig deeper than that.

Moody came to Kilgore from her home town in Northern Idaho. "I came to Kilgore College because I enjoy teaching first and second year students especially. They have an enthusiasm for learning," she said.

Before coming to Kilgore, she studied at several Colleges and universities in the Northwest. She received her bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Montana. She has doctorate's in soils and anthropology, and she is now working on her third doctorate in geology.

She said she hopes to finish her third doctorate in soils by Christmas, 1984.

Things were different for a woman when Moody began her studies in the earth's history. "At that time they didn't let girls into geology field school," she said.

"At that time they didn't let girls into geology field school."

But, because of her strong educational background, she has been asked to work on several rather demanding projects, female geologist or not, in several areas around the United States.

with KC

For instance, she worked as a mud logger geologist on an oil rig in Oklahoma, and she also spent several years studying flood sequences in central Washington. She spent several years working at Mt. Saint Helen, before and after its eruption and destruction. Moody found sediments in Idaho to be of the same type as those found at Mt Saint Hlen. For future goals Moody plans to possibly publish a geology book on soils for anthropologists.

Football team name chosen in contest

Football was the star attraction of the 1935-36 school year. The Kilgore Daily News, in cooperation with the athletic department of the school, sponsored a contest to name the Kilgore College football team. The winner was to receive two season tickets. A list of nearly 200 team names were submitted.

Mrs. J. E. Bacwell wanted to call the team the MASTERS because "every player must master himself." The name EAGLES was also encouraged because "the eagle builds high, is sure of his game, and feared by all other birds."

The name committee announced its choice on September 18, two days before the opening game. The name Rangers was chosen in honor of the famed Texas Rangers.

Guthrie travels world with musical group

Daisy Guthrie has enough musical talent to get her all the way to the top.

Daisy, a KC freshman from Tyler, was a member of the American Musical Ambassadors this summer. The group performed for three weeks in Europe, France, Switzerland, Austria, Italy, West Germany, Holland and England.

Daisy, nominated by her band director at her high school in Tyler, was the only member from Texas. After being selected for the group, Daisy made her way to New York City. While in New York City she made an album with two other members from the group that had been gathered from across the nation.

The city of eight million people, the "Big Apple" was a very new experience for her. She turned lots of heads because of her Texas accent. "Everytime I opened my mouth people automatically asked what part of Texas I was from?"

After performances in Europe, the group got a chance to sight-see other parts of the country. "I loved Paris. We saw the Mona Lisa, Eiffel Tower and many other very interesting things." While in Holland, Daisy was well received because of the "Dallas" fame. J.R. is very popular in Holland. "The people of Holland think the city of Dallas is a state. They thought everyone in Texas wore ten gallon hats and had an oil well in their back yard."

Daisy has achieved much during her music travels. She was a member of the all-region band and a member of Who's Who in Music. She also attended the state solo and ensemble contest and received an excellent rating.

One may wonder why Daisy did not choose to become a member of the KC Ranger Band. She explained that heavy course load took most of her time. "I'd like to get in the KC Band very much," adds Daisy. "I miss the band atmosphere."

The biggest advantage she realized while in Europe was that living in America is wonderful. Europe is a great place but she's glad that America is her home.

Raby spends 25 years in KC library

Louise Raby has spent 25 years in the Kilgore College library. She is an example of those rare employees who started school at Kilgore College, graduated, and became a dedicated, proud worker for the school.

As a teen, Raby began her career in the library while still a student in 1956. Kilgore College must seem like home and family. She met her husband, Glen, who is also employed as director of vending services, while they were both students at KC. In one of the yearbook pictures of Louise you can see Glen's class ring dangling from her necklace. Louise notes her membership in the Joy Club, a Christian religious organization, and being selected as "Who's Who" in library science as memorable accomplishments while a student.

Louise did leave the school for a brief year and worked as a secretary "on the outside," she said. She returned to Kilgore College, however, in 1959 to work as library secretary.

There have been many changes and much growth since Louise was a student at KC. Students don't really change that much, but she's seen them wearing everything imaginable, from poodle skirts and bobbie socks, to peace signs and love beads to button down collars, ties, and Izod shirts.

Louise said she believes in dedication to what she loves, and she likes the people and working environment in the KC library, and she hopes that she has contributed to helping the many students in her two and a half decades at KC.

First 'Retts set standards for 45 years

With a burst of exploding fireworks, the first group of its kind, the Kilgore College Rangerettes brought "show business" to the football gridiron in 1940. Originated by Miss Gussie Nell Davis, the Rangerettes still adhere to her hallmark of perfection. The drill team, in the past 45 years, has pioneered in the field of halftime entertainment.

These dancing beauties have come from every corner of the globe to audition for this world famous group, including Hawaii, Alaska, Indonesia, and Singapore.

To gain membership in the world renown group, members are selected in early August try-outs each year. At the end of pre-training, a ten day preparation period, as many as 150 girls compete for 30 openings in the line.

In the early days, when the group was just getting started, anyone that was able and willing was recruited.

Some 45 years ago Dean Masters, the president of KC at the time, wanted a way to attract more young ladies to the male dominated college and a way to keep fans in the stands at halftime. Along with the financial aid of Leggit Crim and the ideas of Gussie Nell Davis, the Rangerettes started a dancing tradition. Mrs. Bolton, current director of the Rangerettes, said that this tradition was enhanced by the "high kick." The "high kick" has become the highlight of every performance.

The Rangerettes success has been wide ranging, from the Inauguration of President Dwight David Eisenhower to the Macy's Parade in New York. Every year since 1951 the "Rettes" have been traditional performers at the New Year's Day Cotton Bowl Classic in Dallas. They have traveled more than two million miles coast to coast and border to border in the U.S. and on three world tours. Venezuela, Hong Kong, Morocco, and Romania have been just a few stops on the map for the Rangerettes.

George leads 'normal' life

When he was 11, KC business major George Miller lost his right arm to an old wringer-type washing machine while helping his mother with the wash. Since then, George has adjusted, and he thinks that he can do just about anything anyone else can. "I can drive a car, mow a lawn, and make beds as good as anyone," he commented.

He grew up participating in all the normal activities that young people like. In high school he was kicker on the football squad and played on the specialty teams. Being athletically talented, George placed second in his school's district track meet in the long jump. He also competed in the 220 yard dash and mile relay.

A twenty-one-year-old freshman, George plans to manage his own business some day.

Rangerette sisters don't need to compete

Virginia and Silvia Paquin are perhaps not "normal" Rangerette sisters. They are Rangerettes, and they are sisters, biologically. But they may exhibit an "abnormal" quality, if genuine mutual respect for their differences and goals, and an overt display of love and affection for each other and their parents can be considered "abnormal."

Virginia and Silvia, both KC sophomores from Carrollton, Texas, have much in common, but they also admit that they have their differences. "Although we are not much different in looks, we are a lot different in attitudes. Many people also think we are twins. But I'm 11 months older than Silvia," Virginia said. "I believe our differences in attitudes makes us closer. I'm the shyer type while Silvia's more outgoing," Virginia added.

Many people might think that Virginia and Silvia suffer the consequences that competing sisters could encounter as Rangerettes. They both, however, adamantly refused to say anything even jokingly critical of each other, and they steadfastly maintained that each supported and considered the other's welfare in all activities that could inspire rivalry and envy. There are no pressures at all to compete against each other, they both agreed.

The two were on the drill team at Newman Smith High School in Carrollton. Silvia came to see Rangerette Revels during her senior year which prompted her to try out for the world-famous drill team, the Rangerettes. After some convincing from Silvia and other friends, Virginia also agreed to try out.

Their freshman year Silvia made the squad and Virginia was as an alternate. "When the numbers dropped during try-outs to see who made the squad we looked for each other's number," Virginia said. When it came time at semester's end for alternate try-outs, Silvia was behind Virginia "100 percent" and this same "team" support came from Virginia for Silvia during officer try-outs this year, they commented.

The girls' parents, quite naurally, support their daughters, but like many parents, they were not without strong disciplining rules. During their high school years the girls had to keep up their grades to remain on the drill team. The sisters kept and applied the rule to themselves when they came to Kilgore College.

While at KC, Silvia's majoring in biomed engineering and Virginia is a computer and languages major. When asked if they thought they might try out for the Dallas Cowboy or Houston

Oiler Cheerleaders, they said that their father had wanted them to try, but they agreed that studies must be the main emphasis for the next two years.

KC students mock the rival Tyler Apaches by dressing to look like fat, ugly and stupid Apoochie Bellies during a pep rally in Masters Gym.

Hawkins keep it 'all in the family'

How would you feel if your parents went to the same college as you? The daughters of Larry and Carolyn Hawkins feel it is not a problem, but a comfort always knowing where their parents are in case they are needed.

Larry, Carolyn and daughters Kathy and Becky, are full-time students at Kilgore College. The third daughter Debbie and her husband Elwyn are marjoring in elementary education and Business Management, respectively, at Kilgore College, Longview Center

Although Kathy, an Art Education major and Becky, majoring in Theater, do not share any classes with their parents, they do have a couple classes together. They find that being roommates in Davis Hall has its advantages.

Upon retiring from the navy, (husband and father) Larry took the opportunity to continue his education in industrial arts. His wife Carolyn, decided to involve herself in Computer Programing.

Not content with only an associate's degree, Larry and Carolyn will go for a bachelor's at the University of Texas at Tyler, and Becky and Kathy plan to graduate from Stephan F. Austin University Left: Larry Hawkins, daughter Kathy, (wife and mother) Carolyn, and daughters Debbie and Becky.

Laufer shares in Kilgore and KC history

In 1930 Kilgore, Texas, had been a quiet, close-knit, God-fearing community. Then on Dec. 28th of that year the Lou Della Crim No. 1 blew in and shouted to the world of the huge treasure of black gold in East Texas.

Within weeks the sleepy little town swelled from a few hundred to 15,000. The streets exploded with slapped-together shacks, lean-tos, tents and cardboard dwellings that housed stores, bars, brothels and shops of all kinds. But to some the worst was the mud---tons of knee-deep, glue-sticky---MUD!

And caught up in Kilgore's historical upheaval, a National Guardsman in his early 20s by the name of Hyman Laufer was sent along with the 112th Calvary unit to help put a stop to the "hot oil" business that was causing the crude oil market to drop to an almost worthless 15 cents per barrel.

During the Great Depression of the 30s a 21-dollar-per-month army pay check drew Laufer away from work on his master's degree at North Texas State University to serve his "state" in Kilgore. After a couple of months of keeping the peace, Laufer returned to NTSU to complete his master's.

With fresh teaching credentials Laufer joined the young, enthusiastic faculty of Kilgore College in 1936 where, through his forty-year tenure, he taught "at least 10,000 perfect students." Except for the five years he served as a medical administrative officer during World War II, Laufer remained at Kilgore College. He retired from teaching in 1977 holding the position of Chairman of the Biological Sciences Department, and he was elected Ex-Teacher of the Year in 1978.

Shortly after his retirement, Laufer eagerly accepted the job of procuring artifacts for the brand new East Texas Oil Museum, a job which caused many interesting experiences. "An old friend told me of a house outside of town I could tear down to use for the buildings in 'Boom Town.' So, I got a couple of college students and a truck, and we drove out to where the house was. We did a good job tearing down that house. real good. There was hardly a piece left. And, right after we finished, a man pulled up and asked us what we were doing to his house."

Having been at Kilgore College since "Rangerette skirts were down to the knee," Hyman Laufer has seen many changes. "In the early days of Kilgore College there were some dances, silent movies, radio, no television, and just about a dozen automobiles on campus," said Laufer. "Today a kid turns sixteen, he gets a car."

Through the last 50 years of changes and progress Mr. Laufer has watched KC become the "outstanding junior college it is today," he said. Laufer is currently working as a coordinator at the Kilgore East Texas Oil Museum.

Student wants to be in movies

Clay Cross, majoring in broadcasting, already has his foot in the door. In his full-time job at Longview TV station KLMG channel 51 as VTR operator, he is responsible for playing various electronic images while on the air.

Being less than five feet tall, he believes that he could portray smaller-than-normal characters like the Ewoks in the latest Star Wars movie.

Clay, a part-time student at Kilgore College, will graduate with an associate's degree in spring, 1985. At North Texas State University Clay plans to continue with his broadcasting education. Eventually he would like to direct film or play fictional characters in major motion pictures. Being less than five feet tall, he believes that he could portray smaller-than-normal characters like the Ewoks in the latest Star Wars movie.

THIS THING CALLED GLAMOUR . . .

- To prove that Kildare College has GLAMOUR floating about at any other college, the Yearbook held an election in which Miss Bette Kathryn Ferguson (opposite page) was selected as the most glamorous girl. Miss Virginia Fiddle (bottom) and Miss Judy Lyle (right) were second and third respectively.
- What more proof of K. J. C. glamour can we offer than these pictures?

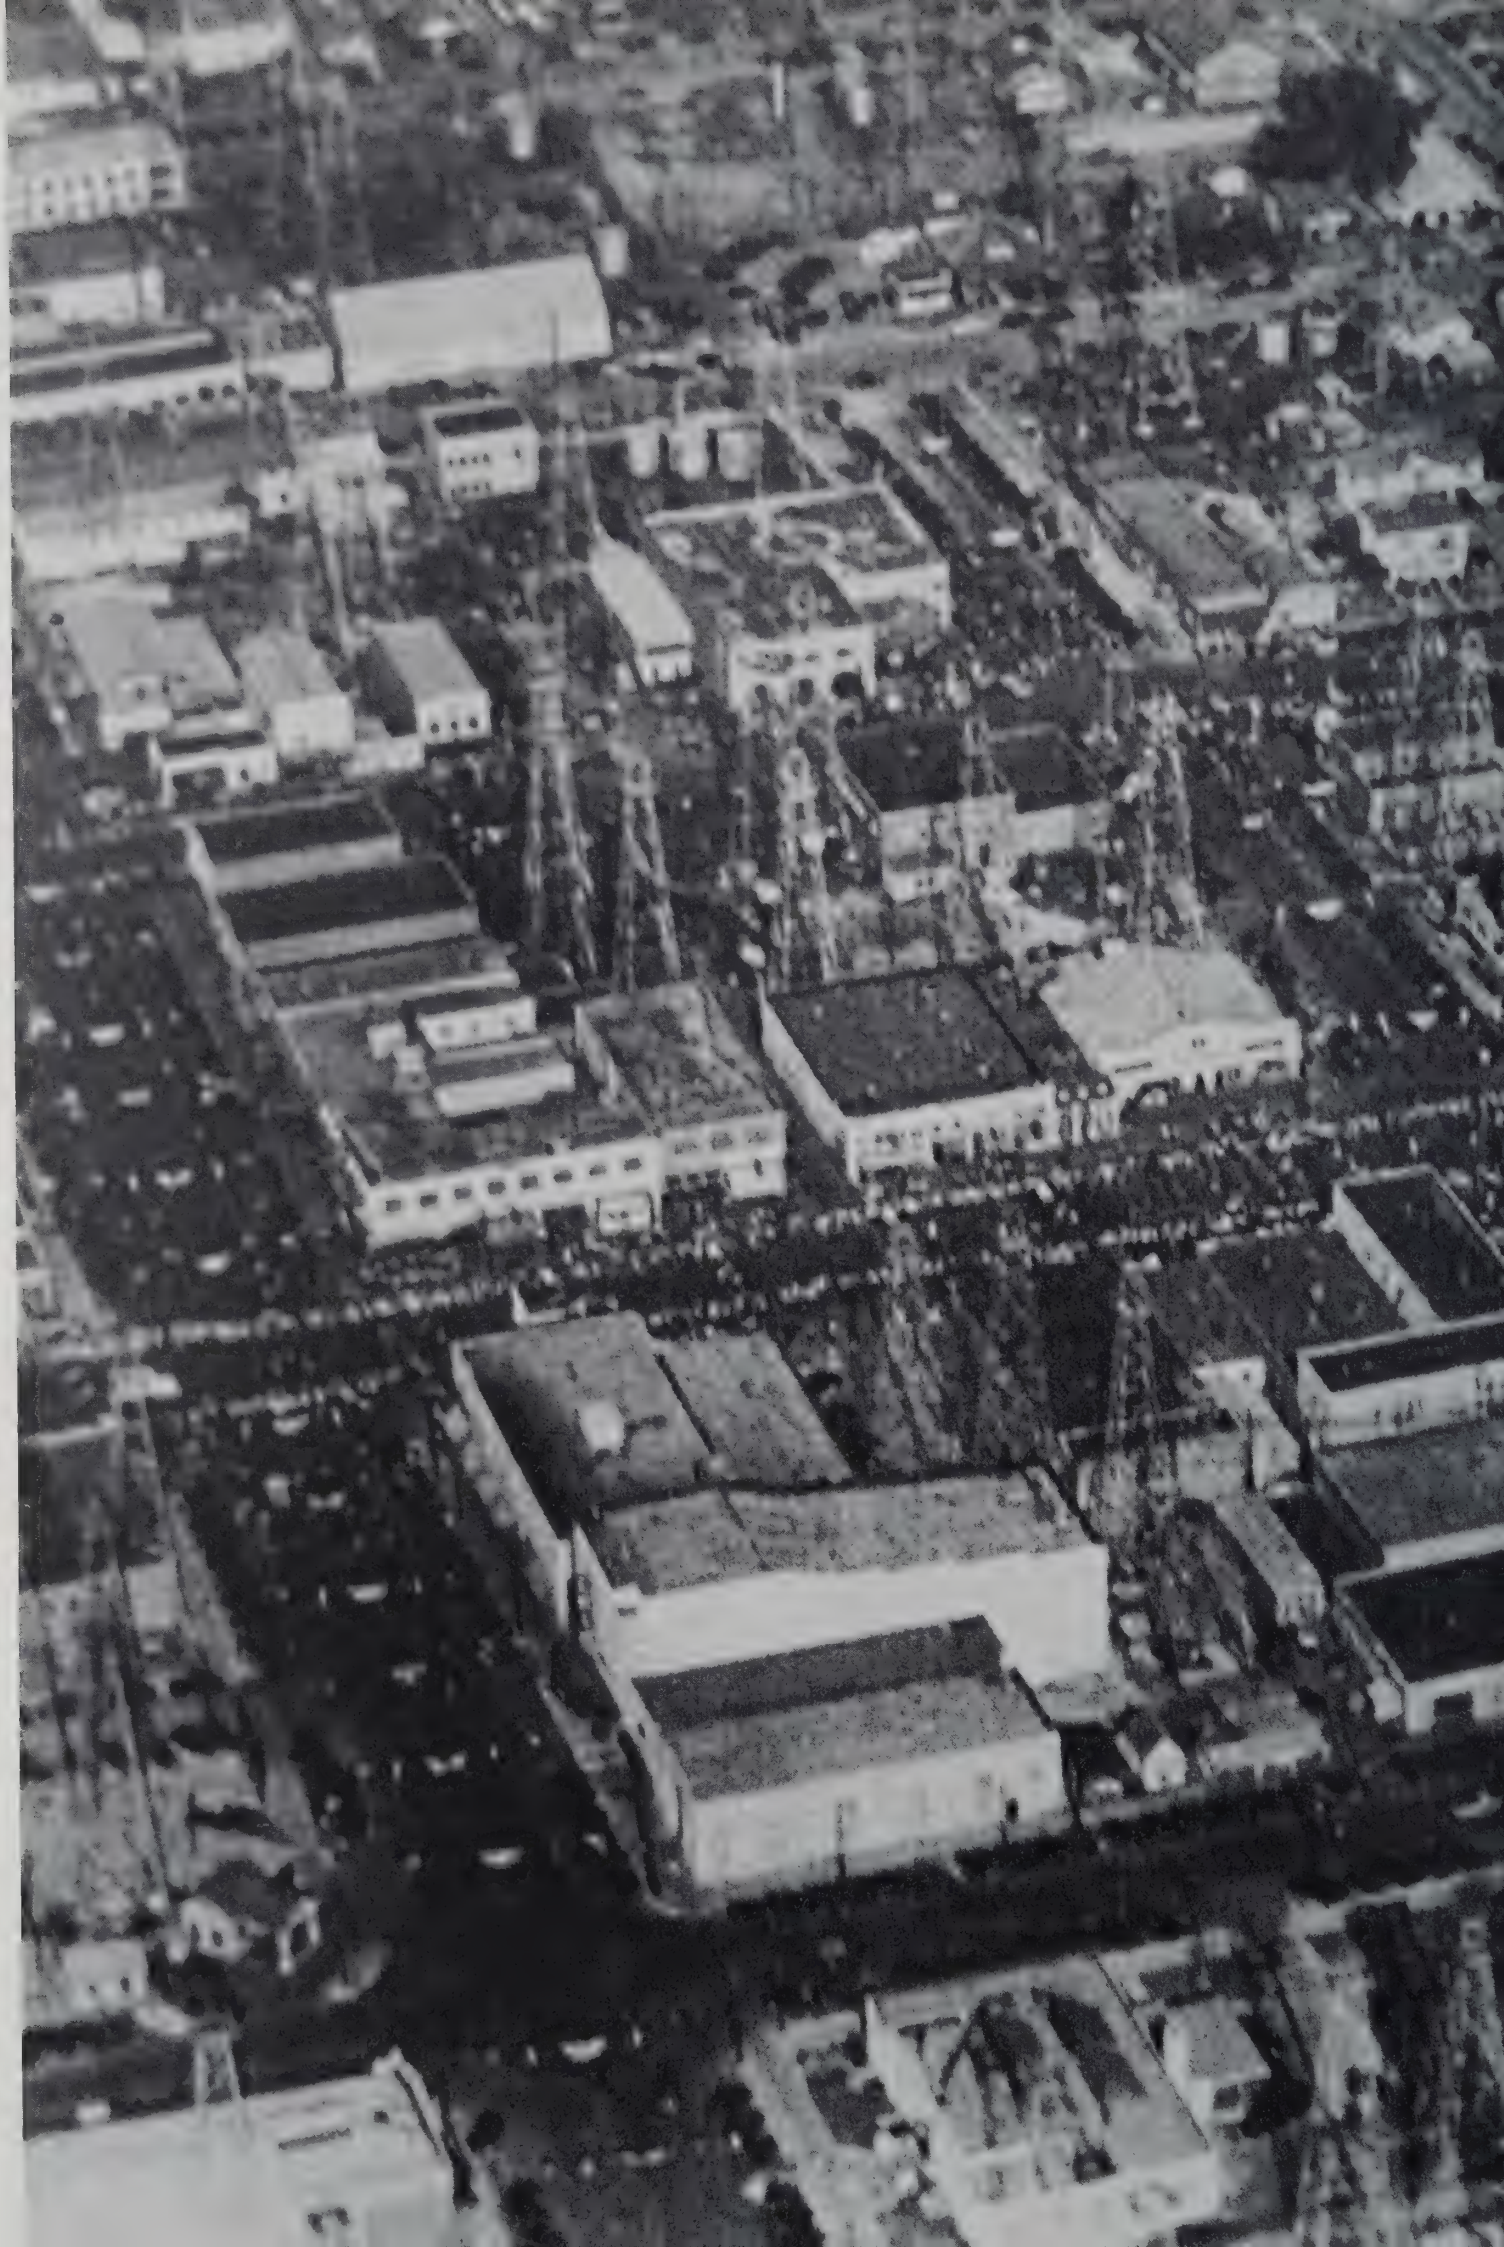

The following is a list of the names of the students who were members of the Student Body during the year 1944-1945. The names are listed in alphabetical order. ## In Memoriam

James Bryant Scott, III, served Kilgore College as Comptroller from January 1, 1977, to May 6, 1983, when he suffered a disabling stroke. He passed away January 21, 1985.

During his tenure at the College, Mr. Scott brought a new dimension to junior college administration. A Certified Public Accountant and a licensed attorney, he provided Kilgore College expert accounting skills and he was generous in providing the College staff much personal legal advice.

Mr. Scott will be remembered as a loyal Texas Aggie, having graduated from TAMU with a degree in accounting. He later completed a law degree at the University of Texas in Austin, after which he was admitted to practice before the Texas Bar.

Prior to joining Kilgore College, he was an auditor for the national accounting firm of Arthur Young and Company. He then joined the staff of Dallas County District Attorney Henry Wade whom he served as Assistant District Attorney for seven years. Mr. Scott operated a private law practice in Dallas at the time he joined the College staff.

Mr. Scott's widow, Cecelia, is secretary to Student Activities Director Joe Webb and two of his three sons, James Bryant Scott, IV, and Michael Alan Scott, are Kilgore College students. Robert Alan Scott, the third son, is a student at Maude Laird Middle School.

He possessed a keen mind and enjoyed a wide range of interests. He expressed a great love for his family, Texas Aggies, sports, politics and country music. His dry wit and a shy nature endeared him to those who were fortunate to know him.

This yearbook is hereby dedicated to the memory of our fine colleague and friend.
